Canadian Built for Canada's Navy

As the champagne bottle breaks over the prow, H.M.C.S. Chambly, first Canadian-built war vessel for the Canadian navy, slips down the ways at an eastern Canadian shipyard, to join other units of the Allied navies in the battle against Hitler. Mrs. Ernest Lapointe, wife of Rt. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, has just stepped back after cutting the ribbon which released the bottle of champagne against the prow of the craft. On her right are J. Edouard Labelle, and on her left, Maureen O'Sullivan's husband, Lieut. John Farrow, of the Royal Canadian Navy. Across the table, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, Minister of Naval Service, edges back to avoid the splashing champagne. On his left are Commander C. J. Stuart, head of the Naval Service at Montreal, and Admiral Percy W. Nelles.

Here new ship rides easily as she is nosed over toward a sister ship launched for the Royal Navy.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES
AWAITING THE REAL THING

Military spokesmen in the Reich have sought to spread the belief that raids on Britain thus far have been only armed reconnaissance flights to obtain information—something like the leaflet raids the Royal Air Force carried out over Germany for the first few months of the war.

Royal Air Force intelligence officers are inclined to agree with this contention and expect that when the blitzkrieg comes—if it does—British fighter aircraft may have to contend with as many as 500 or even 1,000 enemy planes at a time.

INVASION BY GLIDER

Some even suggest that German planes will appear towing strings of pilotless gliders loaded with food and equipment to supply men dropped by parachute from aerial troop transports.

Should this stunt actually be tried British farmers are likely to get a lot of free food and military equipment, because, unless some new control device has been invented, it is impossible to land a glider accurately without a pilot.

Taking a motorless plane off the ground on the end of a tow-ropes is easy. The glider will fly itself in reasonably good air if it is being towed, but coming down is something else again. Chances are it would pile into the towing plane on the ground or overshoot the mark and become lost.

SECRET WEAPONS

There has been a great deal of talk about secret weapons, but none has appeared so far in this war. The Nazis tried to boast that the magnetic mine was a secret weapon, but a quick glance through a few illustrated magazines of last war vintage show it was used in that conflict.

The only secret weapon to emerge so far in this war has been the element of surprise which is secret only until it is sprung and is as old as war itself. Strictly speaking there has not been a new weapon since aircraft were first employed in war.

NOT NEW

Even the tactical principle of the blitzkrieg is at least as old as the combined night infiltration and daylight massed charge of Zulu warriors behind rhinoceros hide shields.

Weapons have been improved and explosives have become more efficient. Old tactics have been streamlined and machines do many of the jobs men did in former wars. The tank, in principle as old as Hannibal's armored elephants, has given protection to men who used to lead spearhead advances at foot.

Gracie Has Money, Diamonds She and Monty Got $126,000 Out of England

LONDON—Gracie Fields, the famous comedienne from Lancashire, who is now in Canada, was discussed in the House of Commons today.

A spokesman for the treasury told the House that Miss Fields had not sought permission to take more than the regulation £10 ($14.50) when she went to the United States recently, but that she had been allowed to take £8,000 ($36,000) last October.

Monty Banks, Gracie's husband, was allowed to take out £20,000 ($90,000) at the same time, the spokesman said.

J. J. Davidson, Labor, asked whether the treasury knew about "a thousands pounds" worth of diamonds bought from a firm in Holborn Viaduct, and inquired whether "these people left practically no assets in this country after enjoying its generosity for many years."

Capt. H. F. C. Crookshank, answering for the treasury, said it knew nothing about these allegations and asserted Gracie Fields and Monty Banks left Britain before there were restrictions on taking out jewelry.

Noel Coward's "contact among certain sections of American opinion" ordinarily difficult for Britons to reach were cited in the House by Harold Nicholson, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Information, in defence of the playwright's current visit to the United States. He said Mr. Coward went abroad with the approval of the Minister of Information, and was invited to call on President Roosevelt, a friend of long standing.

Miss Fields went to Canada shortly after war broke out last September. She went to Hollywood for some weeks and stayed with her parents, whom she took to America last year. In November she returned to Europe, spending some months with British troops in France, entertaining them with song and story. She enjoyed her Christmas dinner with them. About three months ago she returned to America and in Hollywood she and Banks were married before. At the present time Gracie is making a tour of Canada, raising funds for the Navy League, and singing to the men in uniform.

(She was in Victoria last week and left Vancouver this morning by plane for Toronto.)

Her husband, Monty, is remaining with her parents in Hollywood. Miss Fields has said he is losing no time obtaining American citizenship. He is a movie director and producer. Gracie denied in a statement to the Daily Mail this week that Monty was a Fascist.

recruiting while half-a-dozen units had a uniform waiting for him if he wished to become a soldier, that Greene replied from Hollywood today:

"I was in no way subject to call, and my action in going to Canada to enlist was purely voluntary," the young actor says. "Being of Scottish descent, I applied to Col. Leslie of the Seaforth Highlanders, in Vancouver, and told him I wanted to join up and would like, if possible, to get a commission. He gave me to understand that this might be possible. He advised me to return to Hollywood and wait, saying he would wire me as soon as there was an opening."

Adjournment Near

OTTAWA (CP)—Government Leader Dandurand indicated in the Senate this afternoon there is a possibility Parliament might complete its work tonight and then adjourn until November 5. The Supply Bill, being considered by the Commons, is the last measure Parliament has to deal with, and Senator Dandurand said it was possible the Commons would pass it by 8 this evening. It would then be sent to the Senate and, when passed, Parliament could adjourn.

Zero Hour Felt Near British Scouts Report Preparations Barges and Gliders for Nazi Invasion

LONDON (AP)—Royal Air Force intelligence officers, analyzing scouting reports from across the English Channel, are convinced the Germans have about completed organization of a blitzkrieg attempt, Larry Lesueur, Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent in London, reported in a broadcast from here today.

Nazi activity, particularly on railroads and highways in northern Belgium, Holland and France, has been stepped up, he said.

Air force officials, Lesueur said, expect the German onslaught to come partly on barges towed by transports believed to be under construction in the Baltic now and on gliders, towed by transport planes, which would carry food, munitions and guns but no men.

EXPECT "WAVES"

LONDON — With continuing German thrusts by air against various parts of the British Isles, some observers thought a major attack might come within the next few days or possibly a fortnight. A statement of Field Marshal Goering, the German air chief, that the raids so far have been but armed reconnaissance was accepted here as a fair description of the German strategy.

It was assumed that when any attack comes in force, the Royal Air Force may have to take on waves of raiders numbering as many as 500.

'Hitler Will Have H--- of a Job'

NEW YORK — A picture of Britain today, waiting for Hitler to strike, is given here by Edward P. Montgomery, Annapolis graduate, and member of the London News-Chronicle staff, writing to an associate in this city:

"Bob, this country of yours is grand. I wish I could put into the right words how grand it is, so I could make America understand.

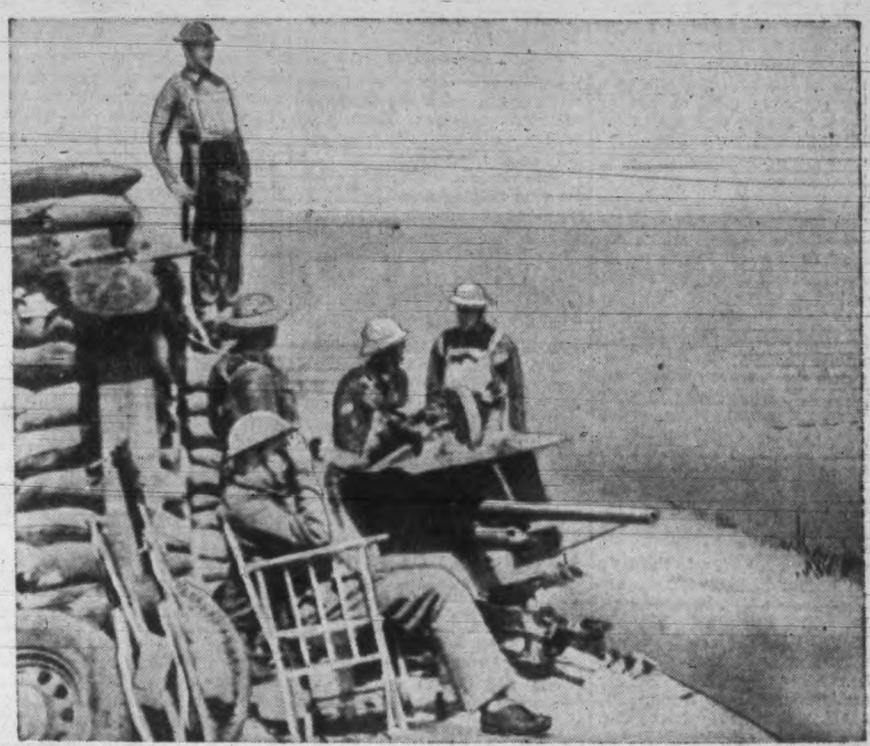

"They're tough and they're getting tougher, and if Hitler does try to invade he'll have a hell of a job doing it. I don't say he may not succeed; he has pulled off a lot of things we all thought were impossible. But, by gad, how he'll have to pay for it!

"All the boys who've come back from various outlying portions of Europe agree that in none of the countries they were in, all of which were eventually invaded, have they seen anything like the preparations for defence which this country is making.

"Not just in certain probable danger spots, but literally over the country.

"There must be enough barbed wire strung around barricades in London alone to fence the whole of Australia. Think of walking down a quiet ordinary (deleted by censor) street and suddenly coming on a concrete blockhouse complete with a garrison of regulars with bayonets fixed! "That's what it's like. And that's what it's like everywhere. I'm told by people who have been out in the country lately. And behind all this is the tremendous spirit of confidence of your people, which is probably the greatest defence of all. Not complacent confidence, but fighting confidence."

British Planes Pound Kiel, Hamburg

LONDON (AP)—An Air Ministry communique tonight said:

"R.A.F. bombers carried out attacks on military objectives in Holland and northern Germany, including targets at Wismar, Kiel and Hamburg.

"The goods yards at Hamm and airdromes at Schiphol and Borkum also were damaged.

"All our aircraft returned safely."

British air defences fought against new German bombing raids on the coast of northeast England, a rural area in southeast England and Wales.

The Air Ministry announced British fighters had intercepted and downed a German bomber off the east coast of England and the Air Ministry and the Ministry of Home Security issued a joint bulletin saying a enemy aircraft dropped a small number of bombs in a few southeastern districts during the night, doing no damage and causing no casualties.

The bulletin counted four enemy aircraft destroyed in "yesterday's engagement," which included a fight over the English Channel in which R.A.F. planes shot down a German fighter.

Brings British Reply

The young leader of a Royal Air Force fighting squadron, who attended McGill University, revealed today that the "ruthless murder" of one of his men as he floundered in the waters of the Channel caused all members of his squadron to swear to avenge him.

Sqdn. Ldr. E. Donaldson, who in May was awarded the Distinguished Service Order, said two pilots under his command collided in mid-air during an operation. The flight commander, who survived the crash, was returning home on a ship which was torpedoed.

"As hundreds of people swam about hoping for rescue," Donaldson said, "German boats turned machine-guns on them. The flight commander's cries for help brought a searchlight on him and the Germans then shot him dead."

When the report of the shooting reached the air station it wrought a tremendous change in the squadron.

"The men had looked upon their work as tremendous fun," Donaldson said. "However, the fate of their colleague caused all hands to vow to do everything in their power to avenge him. The Germans have suffered very much for that crime."

NOT MUCH LEFT OF THIS NOW—Part of the 20-mile waterfront of Germany's great seaport, Hamburg, which the Royal Air Force announced it had "practically pulverized" last week-end and which was again today subjected to heavy British bombing.

Final Bulletins

Monty, Annoyed, May Recall Gracie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Monty Banks declared today that "just because I am Italian" British treasury officials "are trying to make things disagreeable" for his wife, Gracie Fields.

Banks referred to a statement by a British Treasury spokesman regarding the large sum of money and diamonds Miss Fields got out of England since the war.

"I have no comment—I began Banks, but then he added, 'yes, I have. I am not a British citizen and it was my own money. Any way we followed the usual procedure for making the regular application for permission to take our money with us."

"If they bother us any more, I am going to telephone her to come home from Canada and live like a normal person."

Houde's Home Searched

The officers, members of the provincial and Royal Canadian Mounted Police forces, did not disclose what the documents concerned.

Ban Soccer Scores

Because of war-news pressure no more Old Country soccer scores will be sent to Canada.

It is explained "games are staged between pickup teams and have no significance."

The general trend in soccer, any significant developments and outstanding play, will be covered from time to time from London.

NEW LEGATIONS

OTTAWA (CP)—Exchange of diplomatic representations between Canada and some of the South American countries is under consideration, Prime Minister Mackenzie King told the Commons this afternoon.

He mentioned particularly Brazil and Argentina as "good guess" when questioned as to what South American countries he had in mind.

Britain Loses 2 Trawlers

LONDON (AP)—The Admiralty tonight announced the loss of two naval trawlers, sunk by German mines.

AIR FUND TO BUY 8 PLANES OR MORE

Authority for the purchase of at least eight airplanes from the $33,400 air supremacy fund raised in Victoria was sought from Hon. G. C. Power, Air Minister, in a letter drafted by D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller-treasurer, for mailing with the city's cheque for the above amount.

The communication was phrased following a meeting today between Mayor McGavin, Mr. Macdonald and Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey, at which the city representatives reported a net $33,400 had been raised by the air supremacy drive. That figure included the $10,000 allocated for the council for the purchase of planes and the sum collected by the Women's Auxiliary to the Air Services.

During the discussion the Air Commodore indicated the fund would be sufficient to secure at least eight of the desired C.A.C. Aircraft, Stinson 105's.

Vimy Memorial Found Undamaged

OTTAWA (CP)—The Vimy Memorial in France has not suffered any war damage that can be seen from the air, Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced in the House of Commons today.

Estonia Now Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia completed the process of absorbing the Baltic states into the Soviet Union tonight when the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) voted to admit Estonia, Lithuania and Latvia previously had been admitted.

The Supreme Soviet sitting in the great white-walled council chamber of the Kremlin, approved Estonia's petition to enter the Union as the 16th republic by a show of hands, amid an ovation for Josef Stalin, who sat at the back of the officials' tribune.

This action, on the fifth day of the Parliament's session, swelled Russia's population to 193,000,000. Ten million of these are in the three Baltic states, which were brought to Imperial Russia before they broke off during the revolution.

Montreal's Mayor Interned by Mounties

OTTAWA (CP)—Under the Defence of Canada Regulations, Mayor Camille Houde of Montreal will have the right to object to being interned. He was taken into custody in Montreal late last night and interned under the War Measures Act.

Any objection by Mayor Houde would go to Justice Minister Lapointe and he would refer it to an advisory commission which would hear the objections. Two such commissions have been appointed, one under Mr. Justice J. D. Hyndman and the other under Mr. Justice J. H. Fortier.

Every British subject interned has the right to register objection and have his case heard. This right does not extend to enemy aliens however.

BRITISH INFORMED
LONDON (CP)—The internment of Camille Houde, mayor of Montreal, was given front page prominence in London evening papers today.

Both the Evening Standard and the Star displayed the picture of Houde in a tuxedo and brilliant tie and the Star splashed the news under a seven-column headline.

Initialed Copies For Reporters
MONTREAL (CP)—Camille Houde, C.B.E., mayor of Canada's largest city and a member of the Quebec Legislature for a Montreal riding, was interned today.

The man who was seven times mayor of Montreal, whose colorful career has kept him almost constantly in the news since 1928, was taken into custody as he left City Hall late last night. He was taken to an undisclosed camp for internment, charged under a section of the War Measures Act.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Quebec provincial police co-operated in making the arrest. They acted on orders from Justice Minister Lapointe, three days after Houde had issued a statement declaring that he was opposed to the government's plan for compulsory registration.

"I do not myself believe that I am held to conform to the said law, and I have no intention of so doing," the statement said. "I ask the population not to conform, knowing full well what I am doing presently, and to what I expose myself."

The statement was made to Montreal newspapermen who gathered in Mayor Houde's office at his invitation. After he had dictated the statement, he initiated a copy for each reporter present.

The events leading up to the statement were typical of Houde's stormy progress through Montreal municipal affairs. They go back to that day last May when Montreal was placed under the supervision of the Quebec Municipal Commission after the city had failed to meet obligations exceeding $6,000,000.

When the provincial government placed the city under commission control, the city's charter was revised radically. An administrator was appointed who could overrule decisions of the elected municipal government. Houde did not take kindly to the revision, although, in a humorous speech to the Legislative Assembly he told fellow-members Disliked Control By Commission

Houde's dislike of the restraining hand of the commission reached a peak when administrator Honore Parent granted federal authorities the use of five municipal buildings for the national registration later this month. He appealed to the municipal committee of five to protest against Parent's action.

It was after four members of the committee had agreed to the protest, with only Alderman John Kerry dissenting, that Houde called newspapermen to his office and issued his statement. Its first paragraph was directed against Parent, but the remainder of the statement gave Houde's ideas about the national registration plan.

(The protest of the municipal committee was later overruled by L. Eugene Potvin, chairman of the Quebec Municipal Commission.)

Hanson's Protest Heard by House

The worries of newspapermen began several hours after the statement had been issued. The Montreal Gazette printed the statement in its early edition of Friday night, together with a front-page editorial attacking the mayor's stand. Statement and editorial were deleted from later editions by direction of the censors at Ottawa. At the same time, other newspapers were directed not to use the story.

Opposition Leader Hanson rose in the House of Commons the next day, read part of Houde's statement, and asked what the government planned to do. He attacked the censorship regulations which had prevented use of the story.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the matter was under consideration. In a later statement on Monday he upheld the decision of the censors and said the Gazette should not have published the story in its first edition Friday. The censorship ruling, which allowed use of that part of the story dealt with the debate in the House of Commons Saturday and Monday, were relaxed still further after Superintendent H. R. Gagnon of the Montreal division, R.C.M.P., had announced the arrest early today.

Arrest Followed Long Day's Work

The mayor had been working in his office at the City Hall until shortly before 11 o'clock last night. When he stepped out of the building a few minutes later, police officers, who had been stationed at Provincial Police headquarters across the square, closed in on him.

He appeared to take the arrest calmly, but seemed nervous as he entered the R.C.M.P. station on Place d'Arme Square a few minutes later. Numerous special agents surrounded the building.

Inside the R.C.M.P. building, the mayor was questioned for 35 minutes. Halls were cleared on several occasions as he was moved from one office to another.

Among those present during the interrogation were Deputy Director Louis Jarguile of the Provincial Police, Chief Crown Prosecutor Gerald Pateux, Alderman Alex Edmondson and several other officers.

When the questioning ended, the mayor was transferred to the garage in the basement of the R.C.M.P. building. There he was assisted into an automobile, in which both R.C.M.P. and Provincial Police officers were seated.

A thin line of bystanders, attracted by the unusual activity for that time of night, was silent as the car moved away.

Mayor Houde welcomed the King and Queen to Montreal 14 months ago.

Pro-Fascist Ideas Brought Outburst

Probably the greatest outbreak of indignation that Houde ever drew upon himself, prior to the issuance of his statement against registration, followed an address to a Montreal youth group, in which he expressed pro-Fascist ideas. English-speaking and French-Canadian organizations joined in protesting against his remarks.

(He is the holder of the title of Commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy.)

He made the headlines again last May when he seconded a motion presented in the Quebec Legislative Assembly, denouncing conscription, and urging a continuation of a "moderate" war effort by Canada. The motion was defeated.

him a brilliant flier and a rather dull young man in some respects.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

"Col. Lindbergh's dispatch was in sharp contrast to Gen. Pershing's plea for an act of war. Some of his opinions may draw dissent, but how can anyone deny his statements that the problems of Europe cannot be solved by America, that historic forces are at work on the continent which no outside influence can halt, that American opinion is definitely against involvement? This is stark realism, perhaps unpalatable to many of the unthinking, but surely a safer guide than the arguments of those who insist the war can be won for Britain, and America can be made secure, by giving away 50 or 60 of our destroyers."

Cleveland Plain Dealer

"The nation's World War commander . . . spoke in the forthright terms of the free man who sees a distinction between Nazi regimentation and liberal democracy. The young man who gained fame by spanning the Atlantic Ocean by air . . . spoke in those generalizations and half truths so often used by Nazi orators to confuse the issue. His speech could have inspired enthusiasm only in the Wilhelmstrasse. . . America in this hour listens to the general who served it so well in another critical period."

Louisville Times

"General Pershing shouldn't have had to urge that this country's surplus destroyers be sent to Great Britain. They should have been on the way. The rule of common sense which General Pershing would see applied is plain. Its application should not be delayed . . .

"His (Lindbergh's) addresses do not reveal him as a man of rare ability to advise us . . . this writer doesn't doubt the flying colonel's sincerity or the quality of his Americanism, but believes

Women for Harvest

Women farm corps may be needed to take care of a labor shortage for harvesting B.C.'s fruit and other crops this fall. The suggestion has been made to the government, Premier Pattullo said today, but as yet it is not indicated how serious the shortage may be.

Most of the seasonal labor on fruit crops is composed of women in normal times. However, packers and growers are concerned less enlistments take men from trucking and heavier jobs.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, said when the national registration is completed this month the situation will be clarified.

Italians Attempt Offensives

LONDON (CP)—British sources expressed belief today Premier Mussolini had put an Italian army of 500,000 in Africa in preparation for a drive against Egypt.

The high command in Rome reported today Italian vanguards had pushed across the border from Libya into Egypt and a British communiqué at Cairo reported an offensive into British Somaliland.

Against the Italian forces, Britain has a smaller but better trained army, informed sources said. Its strength was not divulged.

It is believed in British quarters here Mussolini is ready to gamble 250,000 legionnaires in Libya and 100,000 white and 150,000 native Askaris in Eritrea, Ethiopia, Italian Somaliland and Libya to conquer Egypt.

Forces May Try To Mushroom

The plan accepted by most neutral authorities here as likely for the Italians is three-fold: 1. An eastward drive along the Mediterranean shore toward Alexandria and Cairo; with advance forces mushrooming towards the Nile.

2. Concentrated drives from Eritrea and Ethiopia into the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Britain, Japan Tension Eases
LONDON (CP)—Diplomatic tension between Britain and Japan appeared to ease today as the government prepared a statement on the situation for presentation in the House of Commons.

Either Prime Minister Churchill or Foreign Under-Secretary R. A. Butler, was expected to go before Commons.

On the surface at least these relations were bettered by the release last night of Satoru Makihara, London agent for the big Mitsubishi business and banking interests, who was arrested last Friday night in a roundup of Japanese throughout the Empire.

The Home Office was said to have decided that the "evidence available" was "insufficient to warrant further detention" of Makihara. He and eight other Japanese were arrested in a drive the British said was for home security. The government denied the detentions were in reprisal for similar arrests of Britons in Japan.

The other eight remained in custody, including Shunsuke Takabe, a London representative of the Mitsui interests.

4 TIMES TOO HIGH
LONDON (CP)—German high command communique today which put total losses of shipping useful to Britain at 657,674 tons in the last three weeks of July, exclusive of warships and tonnage sunk by mines, were scoffed at here today.

One informant said: "British allied and neutral merchant shipping sunk during the three weeks from July 7 to July 28 totals 196,112 tons, of which British shipping accounts for 136,141 tons. "These figures cover all losses, whether by torpedo, aerial or mine attack."

BELGIANS NEAR FAMINE LINE

LONDON (CP)—John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium, declared today that unless supplies of food from America reach Belgium by mid-September people will be reduced to a condition "close to famine."

He said he would present the situation when he returns to the United States next week.

"When the truth is known about King Leopold (of the Belgians)," he said, "his decision to surrender will not only be accepted, but will be applauded."

It was recalled that after the first Great War Herbert Hoover, then in charge of Belgian relief, administered loans exceeding $900,000,000 and gifts exceeding $50,000,000 to save some 700,000 Belgians from starvation.

U.S. Senator Flays Ford, Lindbergh

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry Ford and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Senator W. H. Smathers, Democrat, New Jersey, said today, should "pick up the little iron crosses given them by Hitler and go back to Germany."

"In fact," the senator said in a statement dictated to newsmen, "I'm for having the country provide them free transportation to Germany. I would introduce a bill to provide government payment for transporting them and shipping their little iron crosses."

The automobile manufacturer, Smathers stated, "with his hand on the Hitler cross says he will make airplanes to defend the United States but not Britain. Everyone knows that in helping to defend Britain we are defending ourselves."

'Heil Hitler' Sign

MONTREAL (AP)—Children of Iona Avenue school found a sign bearing a red-painted swastika and the "Heil, Hitler" slogan when they returned home along a short-cut path near the school. Officials said the sign was obliterated before the children returned to school today.

Irish Ready to Fight Any Invader, But Shillalah Won't Win Today's War

By MILTON BRONNER
LONDON.

OF ALL THE LANDS of anomaly and paradox in this troubled and tangled world, Eire, Southern Ireland, is unique. Considered a part of the British Empire, it is to all intents and purposes an independent republic. The British Empire is at war with Germany, but Eire is neutral and a German minister sits, bland and easy, in the legation in Dublin. Presumably he maintains radio communication with his home government and sends in many a valuable tip about British doings.

Citizens of the Empire are being taught to hate Hitler and all his works. In Eire many hate England as ardently as they hate the Nazi regime, which has persecuted Catholics.

The bulk of the people would like best to be left alone. As to the belligerents, their slogan probably would be:

"A plague on both your houses."

CAN'T FORGET "IRISH WRONGS"

They want no part of the war. They would like to go on raising their pigs, cultivating their fields and selling their very good ham, bacon, eggs and butter to the ultra-receptive British consumers.

They do not like the idea of being regimented in a Nazi-controlled world. But they cannot forget "Irish wrongs." They have long memories. They are resentful about Black and Tans and such, because Ulster is divided from the rest of Ireland. It's one of those chickens come home to roost for John Bull.

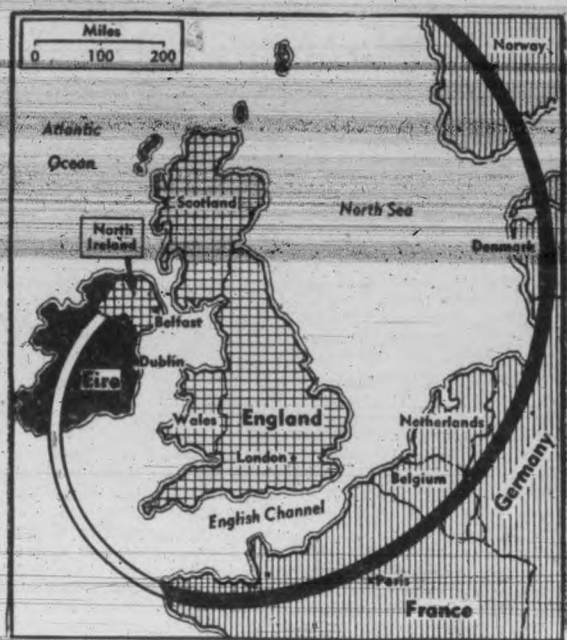

But suddenly it has dawned on the people of Eire that, whether they want to live in peace or not, they are in very real danger of having their neutrality disregarded and their country invaded.

Some think England may start it, to beat the Germans to it. Others think the Nazis will crash in to establish bases from which to attack by air the western ports and airfields of England. In Ulster, closely tied to Britain, there are some Ulster and British troops, as well as some air forces. They could easily cross the imaginary line between Ulster and Eire.

MANY GOOD SUB HIDEOUTS

Germany's task would not be so easy. It is a fairly long fight for transport planes, whether they come from the channel isles or from Norway or Belgium. If the Nazis ousted the British from Ireland, that little island would prove an easier jumping-off place for an invasion of Ireland.

But there is still another chance for the Germans. It is in the long, rugged, indented coast of Eire, with its many bays in widely-isolated sections. Here submarines could find ideal bases, especially if the Germans

Map shows how Nazi seizure of Ireland would bring Germans to west coast "back door" of England.

IRISH MISJUDGE OWN CAPABILITIES

Recruits began to come in gratifying numbers. But there are several big handicaps. First, Eire has no supply of modern tanks, planes and other mechanized equipment. Second, nobody knows to what extent the I.R.A. has honeycombed the army and the police with its sympathizers.

Among the plain people of Eire I found a singular misconception of what modern warfare means. For instance, a young doctor in the western port of Galway said to me:

"I have volunteered for our army and so have dozens of my pals. Let the Germans come if they want to. We will show them what the Irish fighting heart and Irish cold steel can do."

It never occurred to this brave lad that a bayonet in his powerful arms would be of little use against machine guns or dive bombers or baby tanks dropped by transport planes.

NEW U.S. DRIVE ON SUBVERTERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt has asked for close federal and state co-operation in meeting the threat of fifth columnists, but urged that it be carried out solely through normal law enforcement channels.

In a message to a conference on law enforcement problems of national defense, Mr. Roosevelt mentioned "the cruel stupidities of the vigilante," and observed: "The amateur detective soon becomes a fussy and malicious busybody."

On the point of federal-state co-operation, he said: "There are many policies where joint control can be effectively worked."

"I have in mind, as an example," he said, "the enactment by Congress and the state legislatures of laws dealing with subversive activities, with sedition acts, with those things which slow up or break down our common defense program."

"These mutual objectives can be reached by carefully considered legislation, free from the prejudice and emotional haste which characterized much of similar legislation during the last World War."

Mr. Roosevelt's message to the meeting of 165 officials from 46 states was read by Attorney General Robert Jackson.

Apple Juice Becomes Popular

OTTAWA (CP)—Apple juice consumption in Canada has grown tremendously since this product went on the market, and supplies are about exhausted. Agriculture Minister J. G. Gardiner told the House of Commons last night.

He said the new production from the fall harvest would soon be on the market and he believed the price of prairie consumers would be much lower than at present. Conferences on the apple marketing problem were now being conducted in Ottawa.

The minister's statement was made in response to a suggestion by Rev. T. C. Douglas, C.C.F., Weyburn, Sask., that a great volume of apple juice would be consumed in Canada if the product were made accessible at reasonable prices in all parts of the Dominion.

Women Climbers Saved, 1 Hurt

GLACIER RANGER STATION, Wash. (AP)—Two female mountaineers, one injured, were brought to civilization early today after being marooned near the top of 9,000-foot Mount Shuksan for 22 hours.

Anne Cedarquist, 22, a Shelton, Wash., chemist, was taken in an ambulance to Bellingham after being brought to the end of a forest service road by stretchers. Faye Plank, 36, Bremerton high school librarian, walked to the road end unaided and planned to return to Seattle immediately.

Miss Cedarquist was believed to have fractures of the arm and of several ribs, although the exact extent of her injuries could not be determined pending a hospital examination.

Miss Plank said Miss Cedarquist was at the head of a trio as they climbed up the abrupt east face of Mt. Shuksan at 1 p.m. Sunday. She was roped to H. Karl Boyer, 28, Seattle mail carrier, climbing 20 feet behind her, while Miss Plank was about 150 feet behind Boyer, without any rope protection.

PLUNGES OVER CLIFF

Suddenly Miss Cedarquist slipped. She plunged down the rocks past Boyer while he braced himself. The rope held, and Miss Cedarquist was brought up short, 20 feet below Boyer and out of sight over a cliff. Boyer and Miss Plank then let out 50 feet more of the rope, lowering Miss Cedarquist to another ledge three feet wide, at the top of a precipitous snow field.

Boyer climbed down and left his pack with her, and then immediately started back down the mountain for aid. Miss Plank remained to guard the upper end of the rope to which Miss Cedarquist was still attached.

She said she had a supply of chocolate and took a few bites each time she felt sleepy.

During the night, she said, the two women called to each other occasionally to stay awake, but could not carry on any conversation.

Two rescue parties, totaling 24 members, responded to Boyer's plea for aid. They climbed to Lake Anne last Sunday night and continued up the mountain yesterday morning, reaching the 8,000-foot level about 11 a.m.

PLANES MAY FIRE ROCKET SHELLS

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
NEW YORK—Three-inch shells, equivalent of field artillery, to be fired from existing airplanes by rocket power, have entered the possibilities of the present war through recent advances in engineering.

Such shells would bring something new in ballistics as well as in war itself—a projectile which travels fastest as it nears the target instead of as it emerges from the gun muzzle.

The velocity of these three-inch rocket shells would equal that of a three-inch field gun—1,700 feet a second, but the rocket attains this velocity at a mile after its start.

The possibilities are described by Alfred Africano, rocket engineer and member of the Army Ordnance Association, in Astronautics, journal of the American Rocket Society.

The rocket shell he discussed would weigh 15 pounds, almost exactly that of the field gun projectile. It would carry in addition five pounds of smokeless powder as propellant. This is enough to drive the rocket five seconds, at constant acceleration which reaches a velocity of 1,700 feet a second (or 19 miles a minute) as the propellant burns out.

From there on the rocket shell would have to travel like any other artillery projectile.

LAUNCHED FROM RACK

Existing planes cannot carry three-inch field guns, because each weighs about 3,000 pounds. Existing planes could not fire such a gun even if carried, because of the tremendous recoil of firing.

The rocket shells are free from both these obstacles. They need no heavy guns for launching, only a slight rack. Their start is so comparatively slow that there is virtually no recoil.

Unsolved problems, unless some nation has worked them out secretly, are those involved in giving the rocket shell the accuracy of field guns.

Dr. Robert Goddard of Clark University—America's most eminent rocket expert—has already solved this problem for one kind of flight which is vertical. A rocket in the rocket's nose controlling tail rudders, keeps his rockets traveling in a straight line upward.

Service Flying School Opened

OTTAWA (CP)—Operation began today at No. 2 service flying training school of the Royal Canadian Air Force after the first of 16 such schools soon to be established across Canada was officially opened yesterday at the Uplands airport by the Governor-General, assisted by Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Air Vice-Marshal L. S. Breadner, chief of the air staff.

The Earl of Athlone spoke briefly on the importance of such schools in the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, and said he felt confident that all those trained here will be trained as efficiently in every way as their gallant comrades overseas.

The Prime Minister told the assembled airmen there was "no part too humble for anyone to play who plays it efficiently and accurately."

Pupils entering the service flying training school, Air Vice-Marshal Breadner announced, will be young men who have completed a course at the elementary flying training schools from various points in Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the United Kingdom.

The Uplands training school, made from a pattern to be used for all such schools in the Dominion, was completed at a cost of $312,501. The runways, each 2,500 feet long and 100 feet wide, converge like wheel spokes. Specifications include two relief airfields within 25 miles and a practice bombing range.

Such schools, with a staff of 300, provide a finishing course for the R.C.A.F. student pilot who has learned to fly at one of 26 elementary flying training schools. Pupils train on either the Harvard or the Fleet 60, both of which fly at about 200 miles an hour, doubling the speed of the primary trainers.

Air School Projects To Be Rushed

OTTAWA (CP)—Work will start immediately on 15 construction projects, the majority of which are components of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan, Munitions Minister C. D. Howe announced today.

Contracts for these projects call for an outlay of some $2,757,000.

These contracts, their approximate cost, type of construction, approximate date of completion and contractors employed, include:

No. 3 bombing and gunnery school, Dafoe, Sask., $302,000, building and units, October, W. W. Wells, Wilkie, Sask.

No. 3 bombing and gunnery school, Dafoe, Sask., $447,000, hangars and buildings, October, Shogquist Construction Co., Saskatoon.

No. 1 R.C.A.F. equipment depot, Toronto, $43,000, water services, August, Carter-Halls-Aldinger Co. Limited, Winnipeg.

No. 4 service flying training school, Saskatoon, $121,000, additional buildings, October, Smith Brothers and Wilson, Saskatoon.

Macdonald Brothers, building, Winnipeg, $65,000, plumbing and heating and ventilating, October, Cotter Brothers, Toronto, Ont.

Younger Officers

LONDON (CP)—Reorganization of Britain's home guard by weeding out the physically unfit, is under way, and a survey is being made of all ranks with the object of removing all who have not the endurance and strength necessary in the event the threatened invasion materializes. In the process a number of old retired officers holding senior posts will be replaced by younger men with more recent military experience.

Wages Fit Families

VICHY, France (AP)—Workmen in the new France will be paid in proportion to the size of their families instead of the usual merit-based salaries, according to an announcement by Youth Minister Jean Ybarnegaray.

French women, he said, "will return to their one traditional purpose in life being in their homes, having children and living only to raise strong, useful men."

We have developed our air planes to the point where we can travel at the rate of 450 miles per hour, can climb at the rate of 5,000 feet per minute, can ascend to an altitude of 40,000 feet and fly non-stop 5,000 miles with a load.

Quebec's Champion

RT. HON. ERNEST LAPOINTE, DOMINION Minister of Justice, returned to the House of Commons at Ottawa yesterday, probably against his doctor's orders, and attended to the legal details necessary for the removal of Montreal's Mayor Camille Houde from his office in the City Hall to an internment camp—where, presumably, His Worship will remain "for the duration."

Parliament heard on Saturday that the chief magistrate of Canada's commercial metropolis had issued a statement declaring he was opposed to the government's compulsory registration plan, that he had no intention of complying with its requirements, and suggested the population follow his example. Prime Minister Mackenzie King informed the Commons yesterday morning that the Department of Justice—the proper branch of the public service to deal with it—had the matter under consideration. Mr. Lapointe's prompt and effective action, of course, is a new indication that the government of this country will countenance no infractions of the Defence of Canada Regulations, and that those who may be contemplating defiance had better note well what has happened to the man who has been Mayor of the Dominion's largest city seven times, and is at present a member of the Quebec Legislature.

It was naturally unthinkable that the fair name of Quebec should be besmirched by the unwarranted attitude of the man who already had presumed to suggest, 18 months ago, that in a war between Great Britain and Italy the people of the Ancient Province—whom he described as Fascists by blood if not in name—would demonstrate their sympathy toward Italy and not toward Britain. As we have already said, Mr. Houde speaks only for a very insignificant element in Quebec, and his latest outburst will merely be added to previous samples of his penchant for exhibitionism. But in this case he took a course which will give him ample time to reflect—without the attendant publicity on which he has appeared to thrive during his public career. On the other hand, if there is one man in Canada who does know Quebec and its people, that man is the Minister of Justice. He it was who accepted the challenge of Premier Duplessis and, together with two other Quebec ministers in Mr. King's cabinet, organized the forces of true Canadianism against the Union Nationale's attempt to prove that the province was not behind the Dominion government in its war effort.

Duplessis and his party were swamped. Mr. Lapointe had staked his political career on that contest. Quebec has not wavered in the meantime; and the Minister of Justice will find no warmer commendation for his prompt action in the case of Montreal's Mayor Houde than among the people whom he knows so well—the people who trust him.

Real Need is Equipment

LAST WEDNESDAY'S OTTAWA Journal editorially that Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, told the House of Commons that Canada shortly would have "a corps of two complete divisions and ancillary troops" in the "front line" of Britain, and that he added: "My advisers are definitely of the opinion that it would not serve the common cause at this time to have additional Canadian forces added to such corps. It must be remembered that there is at this moment no shortage of manpower in England. The real demand is for equipment." The Journal uses black type to emphasize the last six words of that part of Mr. Ralston's statement. Then the Ottawa paper continues:

"Mr. Ralston, we think, is right. But if he is right, with the real war demand being for equipment, is he quite sure that the measures he proposes are likely to provide that equipment? During the past month, as Mr. Ralston and his colleagues are well aware, urgent orders have come from England for all sorts of equipment: guns, ammunition, tanks, war materials. So anxious is the British Government for these supplies that, in partnership with the Canadian Government, it is putting scores of millions of dollars into new factories on this continent. So vast is this expansion, that Canada is known to be facing a grave labor shortage; a shortage not merely of mechanics and skilled workers, but of ordinary labor."

Our Ottawa contemporary—with one or two other Canadian journals that have found it difficult to discover anything good in the government which the Canadian people chose so emphatically last March—has used up a good deal of space on criticism of the King administration under various heads, but often because a continuous stream of men was not flowing across the Atlantic. The Journal now is obviously convinced that "the real demand is for equipment." Our files show we have suggested numerous times that upon Canada may devolve the job of making up for damage caused to British industrial establishments. Well, Herr Goering says air raids on Britain to date have been in the nature of reconnaissance trips, and that "waves" of 500 at a time may be expected when the attack begins in earnest. But the portly marshal knows also that two can play at that game. So Canada is tackling the job which spells bad news for Hitler and his cohorts.

After drinking a "Hitler special" cocktail, a man blurted out his wife. A new fur coat which he had bought for her was in the process of being made.

Not in This Hot Weather

SURELY MR. J. F. POULIOT (LIBERAL, Temiskouata), did not expect the House of Commons today to welcome with jubilation his implied suggestion of a discussion of Canada's "inferior status" under the terms of the British North America Act. The Department of External Affairs estimates were under consideration, and the government supporter regretfully noted that this country still had no power to amend its own constitution, and that the British Parliament could disallow legislation passed by the Parliament of Canada. At this stage of the session, of course, the Prime Minister, while recognizing the importance of the question raised, could do no more than intimate that the legal implication of "inferior status" was a matter at this point in the Dominion's history which could scarcely warrant a full-dress debate during a war condition.

When Canada is ready to ask the British Parliament for the authority to amend her own constitution—the British North America Act—both Houses at Westminster will comply with the request as quickly as it takes to conform to traditional parliamentary procedure. Nor is there any question of inferiority of status; the original Balfour resolution—in which Mr. King and Mr. Lapointe had a hand—approved at the Imperial Conference in 1926 disposed of this idea, and the passage in London and in Ottawa of the Statute of Westminster formally legalized everything to which procedure had given consent; equality was thus established in law. The British government's power of disallowance, of course, merely awaits legal interment. It has long been "dead" in practice.

The Parrot Cry

IN CASE THE IDEA SHOULD BE CONVEYED that the following extract from an editorial in the Colonist appeared some months ago, it should be noted that it is clipped from today's issue:

"There are sound and convincing arguments in favor of National Government to direct national war effort. It has been found necessary in Great Britain and other parts of the Empire, and for the very reasons which would make it desirable in this country. All that stands in its way here is the smug self-confidence of the present government, something which is not shared by the people of the Dominion as a whole. It is self-complacency at Ottawa that has decreed for Canada a policy of moderate participation in the war. . . . What is suggested in the way of conscripting man power under this authority is in the nature of a joke, for it means just a smattering of military training—the making of amateur soldiers to meet the highly professionalized and rigidly-disciplined legions of the enemy. Under a National Government the courage would exist to make conscription what it means in any other country that is at war, and what it means in Germany and Italy in peacetime as well."

Our "moderate participation in the war" is reflected in our expenditure of the trifling sum of approximately $4,000,000 daily. But what did the morning paper say about the budget Mr. Ralston introduced to Parliament a few weeks ago? We quote briefly:

"There are those who will maintain, and with a good deal of logic, that the increased revenue sought through taxation to be imposed could have been secured without such sudden and startling increases in the income tax, with the superadded effects of the new wage tax, and 'there was no public expectation that it would come with such a heavy shock, and the opinion may well be expressed that the repercussions may not be all that the government desires.'"

Will the morning paper, incidentally, recommend to the high tariff party it supports that it help hard-pressed Britain in an economic way by suggesting that Canada take more British goods in payment for the war materials we are sending across the Atlantic in ever-increasing quantities? We do not think so; it supported Dr. Manion's plan to charge the heavily-taxed British consumer $1.50 a bushel for his wheat—or nearly double the price he had been paying.

Notes

By the recent cables we note that Spain's attitude toward Chile has turned definitely cold.

Almost any correspondent's story from Britain or Germany these days can start out with, "It was a bombby summer evening."

Astride a great horse, the Duke bounds about, leaps 19 hurdles, and flexes his bunned arm muscles, to prove to newspapermen he's fit. And to what breakfast food, pray tell, is all this energy due?

THE CANADIAN CENSORSHIP

From Vancouver News Herald
Surely it was a mistake for the press censors to attempt suppression of Mayor Houde's utterly senseless statement advising Canadian citizens not to register. Mr. Hanson has very properly called this matter to the attention of Parliament.

If Mayor Houde's remarks contravened the Defence of Canada Regulations he should be very properly interned. At the same time, regulations or no regulations, the people of Canada have a right to know what the Mayor of Canada's largest city is saying.

We know from the recent examples of Norway, Belgium and France what the traitors in the high places can do. It has been said that the rigid censorship of the French press played no little part in the downfall of national morale.

The censors should take the view that it is no part of censorship to suppress the vital facts of domestic controversies. The effective way to deal with subversive leaders is to let them convict themselves out of their own mouths and then see that punishment is just and swift.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

DESERT
HANSARD, THE OFFICIAL record of the Canadian Parliament, is a bleak desert of type with vast, thirsty spaces between each oasis. Few travelers are hardy enough to travel for long over these wastes. That is a pity, for every now and then, every 100 miles or so, the bold wayfarer comes across some spectacle worth the journey, some startling sight apparently never beheld by men.

On page 1599—if you have managed to keep up the dusty march so long—you will find a rare piece of parliamentary scenery, a single curious pinnacle, standing alone in the desert, worth pausing to examine and consider.

On this page is Mr. Mackenzie King's spontaneous confession, first of his own mistakes, and second, of his lack of complete confidence in the public intelligence. I have never heard of him letting himself go like this before.

Young Mr. Green, of Vancouver South, asks the Prime Minister why Canada's defenses were not better prepared for the war, what Mr. King was doing between 1921 and 1930. Mr. King replies that he always believed in Laurier's policy of a Canadian navy on the Atlantic and the Pacific—a policy rejected by the people in 1911—but he adds:

"In considering defence matters in these recent years the governments of the day, regardless of which party has been in power, have had to consider what they could do in the light of the opinion of the people of Canada generally through these years. And while my honorable friend knows as well as I do that while there were many things many of us would have liked to do, we could not have obtained support in Parliament or in the country to do some of these things. . . . It is easier to be wise after an event than to be wise before it occurs."

This is a very serious statement indeed. It goes down to the very root of our democratic system, its failures and its prospects. In plain terms, the government of Mr. King knew more defence measures were necessary, wanted to create them, but couldn't get public support. And it didn't dare tell the people the facts as it saw them. Democracy could not be trusted. "I would say," says Mr. King, "that it could not have been done for much the same reason as that which brought about the defeat of the Laurier administration when its naval policy was made a political issue of that day." In plain terms again, the King government would have been defeated if it had trusted the public and tried to do something worth while about our defenses.

IN BRITAIN

THIS RATHER GHASTLY confession is not unique to our Canadian democracy. The same thing precisely happened in the United States. And in Britain on November 12, 1936, Premier Baldwin admitted that he had been worried about German rearmament since 1933, but: "Suppose I had gone to the country and said that Germany was rearming, and that we must rearm. Does anybody think that this pacific democracy would have rallied to that at that moment? I cannot think of anything that would have made the loss of the election from my point of view more certain."

Mr. King and Mr. Baldwin were perfectly sincere. They won their elections. They knew their people. They took no chances. Neither did their opponents.

That is the way we have interpreted the democratic process—the necessity of pleasing the people at every point, even if you know they are wrong. It is a mistaken interpretation.

Gladstone interpreted the democratic process better when he resigned, because he would not accept the opinion of his cabinet and the nation on the size of the British Navy. Churchill went into the wilderness through the prewar period because he would not accept Mr. Baldwin's strategy of deluding the people and feeding them on lollypops. When they awoke the British people called in Mr. Churchill, rather late.

What we have always lacked in Canada are statesmen who do not regard the election of their party as essential. What we need are men who deliberately take themselves and their parties into opposition and defeat on a policy, confident that the people will awake in time and return to them.

FACTS OF LIFE

HOWEVER, THE DEFENCE question in Canada is settled. The people have come around and we are arming. But the statesmen's distrust of the people remains. On page 1600 of Hansard you will find Mr. King refusing flatly to say whether Canada has any defensive understanding with the United States because any statement would "be entirely misunderstood and misinterpreted" by the Canadian and American people. On July 31 he refuses to discuss such matters even at a secret session. And in the Senate, Senator Dandurand does not think we should discuss Canada's attitude towards Pan-Americanism. Even the aged Senate, apparently, is not old enough for the facts of life yet.

One can understand why the strategy of a war cannot be discussed publicly. But one must hold a very low opinion of the Canadian people's intelligence when one cannot trust them to consider their relations with their neighbors, their whole future in the world. If any business is theirs, this is it. If they have any right to consider anything, this is it. And if they are unfit to consider this, they are unfit to consider anything and should abolish Parliament.

The question, then, is whether the people

Military Intelligence by the General in P.M.

How long does it take to train the men for a modern army and air force?

There are, for the army, many answers. If soldiers are in every respect the object—and they should be—eight to nine months are necessary in all arms. In a grave national emergency, provided enough officers can be found, four or five months can be made to do. Men can even be sent into action with only a month of drill, if circumstances dictate. Combat drill parallels other instruction right from the start of a well-planned program. But soldiers without full training will be at a disadvantage against a first-class enemy.

Soldiers in a crack army like the German can handle more than one of the hundreds of different modern military specialties. The reason why this is desirable is obvious. Suppose a tank driver is a casualty. There must be another crew member

"MIDDLE"

From Vancouver Sun
One great London Daily carries a box on its front page each day headed "Middle," in letters two inches high, where there are offered instances in which ancient civil service rules hold up our progress toward victory. One day it is evidence that Local Volunteer Defence posts cannot have telephones until permission has been obtained by the Post Office to place poles across somebody's land—with a result that if a coast watcher saw an armada coming he has to ride three miles on a bike to give the alarm. Another day it is the case of a Reservist who is an expert in some of the mysteries of aluminium construction. He is called up and doing odd jobs around barracks while his firm, with government orders to fill, can only work two shifts instead of three until they get him out of the army, a process which, even with the frenzied aid of Ministers of State, takes many weeks to filter through the hide-out stolidity of lower offices in Whitehall.

NO MORE TRIPS TO U.S.

From Ottawa Citizen
Canadians who confined themselves to the North American continent used to get a quiet chuckle now and then at the more wealthy citizen who traveled in Europe and had to empty his pockets and have some official count his money every time he arrived at one of the continent's closely spaced frontiers.

Now the shoe is on the other foot—in fact, it is on everyone's foot. Everyone is in the same boat; all are pinched by the same boot.

Our much-vaunted three thousand miles of undefended border is no more. True, there are no armed sentries to pick off an unwary traveler, all the picking is done in the airy offices here in our own city with an accuracy calculated to discourage any week-end forays into what may appear to be greener pastures.

are fit to consider it. Mr. King thinks they were not equal to facing our defence problem before the war, and obviously this is true. We did not want the facts then. We refused year after year to face them, through all the lingering chapters of Manchuria, Ethiopia, Austria, Spain, Czechoslovakia, as they refused in Britain, with Mr. Baldwin's help.

Do we want to face them now? Can we be trusted with the truth? Well, our record is pretty bad, but it would be an interesting experiment to tell us everything, hold nothing unpleasant back, treat us as adults, trust democracy, and see our reaction. After some preliminary fumbling, the politicians might be surprised at our intelligence. And if it isn't there, if we lack it, there is nothing the politicians can ever do in the end to save us.

City Council Topics

Approval Given for Roller Rink Here

Over the objection of counsel representing the Cecil Hotel interests, the City Council yesterday gave conditional approval to establishment of a roller rink in the premises known as 756 Yates Street, the location where a rink once operated before.

On a motion by Alderman W. Hawkins the council, however, reserved the right to withhold a business license until after the interests seeking to establish the entertainment centre had interviewed the mayor, the city building inspector and city solicitor to discuss with them the elimination of the noise nuisance.

Approval of the project was first given in a joint report from the building inspector, fire chief, sanitary inspector and others who insisted that certain conditions be met before a permit was granted.

H. W. Davey, for the Cecil Hotel, protested on the grounds the establishment would be a noise nuisance destroying the value of the newly converted apartments on the three upper floors of the hotel.

D. K. Kennedy, building inspector, noted the zoning by-law permitted the establishment of the rink in that location.

Alderman W. H. Davies stated previous tenants had been forced to vacate the hotel owing to the noise from the roller rink when it was in operation.

Mr. Davey remarked jurisdiction over the matter rested under the trades license by-law which covered nuisances. His clients had spent $10,000 renovating the hotel and he "could not see how the roller rink could be anything but a nuisance" to them.

Alderman W. L. Morgan remarked on objections to a rink on View Street prior to its operation. When it had started, no complaints had been heard, he said.

At the request of Edwin Tomlin, spokesman for the Jubilee Hospital building committee, the council granted the committee permission to hold a tag day on August 31 to raise some of the $33,000 still to be collected to finance the hospital's new $140,000 wing.

Closing of the City Hall on August 24 to permit all employees to attend the annual picnic of the Civic Federation of Greater Victoria, was authorized by the council.

The mayor and aldermen will make a tour of inspection of the Cameron Lumber Co. Ltd. mill on Thursday morning at 10.30 to see how the plant is operated. An invitation to make the tour was extended to the council by the mill interests in an effort to emphasize to the city body the need for improved water pressure serving the plant. At the same time the members of the city party will give some study to the smoke and cinder nuisance, a complaint over which was reported yesterday to the council by Alderman Hawkins.

Thanks for the city's prompt action in installing a street light on St. Charles Street was conveyed in a letter from Mrs. Ethel M. King.

Approval of payment of $215 for a quarter page advertisement covering the city's attractions in the Financial News, London, was given on the recommendation of the finance committee.

Three resolutions were endorsed for consideration by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at its September convention. One covered keeping of cows in a municipality, another matter related to succession duties on property and the third establishment of a unit for sawdust fuel and penalties for short weight or measure on wood carts.

One sale was cancelled and one property on the north of Michigan between Oswego and Montreal was sold for $50 on the recommendation of the lands committee.

Purchase of 10,000 feet of half-inch copper tubing for $915 from Crane Ltd. was authorized on the suggestion of the water board.

On a motion of Alderman S. H. Okell a vote of commendation was passed to the Victoria High-

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your system daily. If it is not flowing freely, your food does not digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach, and you get constipated. Bile goes into the body, and you feel smart, and the world looks pink.

A new liver movement is always going on at the same time. You need something that works on the liver. It is called Carter's Little Liver Pills. It gets those two pounds of bile flowing freely and makes you feel "up and up". Harshness and gurgles, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else, etc.

land Games Association for its excellent sports day here.

Tenders of George Dodds for demolishing several condemned structures at a cost to the city of $65 were accepted.

Use of vacant property adjacent to the Bay Street Armories was granted the Department of National Defence for the establishment of a camp cooking school.

Victoria can anticipate a demand for greater accommodation for members of the services within the immediate future. Mayor Andrew McGavin told the council yesterday. His remarks were prompted by a letter from the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities carrying a request from Halifax for national assistance in financing entertainment and other services for troops from out-of-town points.

The condition in this city was similar to that in Halifax and if any money were collected, Victoria should secure its share, the mayor said. The demand for greater accommodation was apparent already, the mayor said. Any entertainment suggestions in the Halifax appeal were not up to those being put into operation here, said Alderman Davies. Alderman Okell suggested the auxiliary services might be contacted in any activity planned by the city along fund-raising lines. The issue was turned over to the celebrations committee.

The Selkirk Lumber Co. Ltd. was granted permission to establish a lumber assembly yard at 1195 Portland Road.

The request of J. Graham Johnson for a 110-foot surface drain extension to serve a proposed new freight depot for the Island Freight Co. on the southwest corner of Douglas and Chatham Streets was referred to the public works committee.

The application for superannuation submitted by J. Blackstock, garbage department employee, to become effective September 1, was approved.

SAVES FAMILY—James Harrell, Hollywood actor, visiting his home town of Hastings, Ont., saved four persons in a fire which swept the business district early August 1. Breaking down a door, he awakened a mother and father and two children asleep in their second-storey apartment.

SEATTLE (AP)—Dizzy Dean's troubles "are all in his head," not in his arm, Walter "Dutch" Ruether, Chicago Cub scout who was delegated to teach Dean how to pitch side-armed, said here yesterday.

There's nothing the matter with his $185,000 arm, and changing from an overhand to a side-arm delivery is doing him more good mentally than it actually is physically, Ruether said.

St. John Nurses Gave Assistance at Fete

A report covering the part played by the four members of Victoria Nursing Division of St. John Ambulance Brigade at the recent garden party at Government House was given at the meeting of the division held last night at 534 Broughton Street, when about 40 of the 70 members of the division were present.

In charge of Mrs. E. G. Thorne, the four members had a well-organized nucleus, which went into action promptly and efficiently as each case was brought in. Fortunately there were few, the first being a girl who had collapsed with a combination of over excitement and the crowd; a second case was that of a sprained ankle, and a third was that of a woman who inadvertently got in the way of one of the games.

Some discussion took place about the weekly practices for women volunteers. These are being held every Thursday evening. Comment was made concerning the small attendance during the summer months, and the hope was expressed that more women would attend the first-aid practices at this time.

Refresher Course For Nurses Opens

With 70 nurses in attendance, the refresher course in nursing leadership, sponsored by the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia, and directed by Miss Marion E. Lindeburgh, M.A., R.N., director of the school for graduate nurses at McGill University, opened at St. Joseph's Hospital nurses' home yesterday morning.

Miss Margaret E. Kerr, M.A., R.N., of the University of British Columbia, vice-president of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia, introduced Miss Lindeburgh to the gathering, which included nurses from Vancouver, Victoria, Trail, Nelson, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Port Alberni. "The Aims of Nursing" and "Nursing Service" were the topics discussed.

At the close of the afternoon, the Sisters of St. Joseph's served tea. This morning the topic is "The Modern Supervisor," led by Miss Lindeburgh, and this afternoon Sister Mary-Clare, educational director of St. Joseph's, is introducing "New Equipment." The course will continue throughout the week.

Mrs. Frank Stead, president of the Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E., will present her report of the national annual meeting held in St. John, N.B., the latter part of May, at a special meeting at headquarters on September 5 at 8. Members of the order are asked to register to assist with the National registration, which takes place this month.

"HITLER'S ART PHONY"

If Hitler had not been thrown out of an art institution when he was young, he might have lived a happy life as a mediocre painter. So thinks Hertha Glatz, young Viennese contralto, now in Canada. According to Miss Glatz, there's something phony about Hitler's professed love of music and art. "For Hitler, Wagner is a symbol," she said. "I think his feeling toward music is sentimental, and carries very little understanding with it. Hitler thinks an important person must connect himself with art. That's why he dabbles with painting, and is excited by Wagnerian pomposity."

Weddings

CAMPBELL-KERR

At the First United Church vestry on Saturday evening, Rev. Thos. Menzies united in marriage Marion Beatrice, second daughter of the late Mr. C. Kerr and Mrs. Kerr, 2612 Wark Street, and Mr. Elmer Allison Campbell, R.C.S. elder son of Mr. A. A. Campbell, 2622 Roseberry Avenue, and the late Mrs. Campbell.

The bride wore a powder blue lace dress with a matching hat trimmed with pink and blue forget-me-nots, pink accessories and a corsage bouquet of orchids, her only ornament being a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Miss Alice Craig, the bridesmaid, wore a frock of ashes of roses sheer, with a small hat and a corsage spray of pink carnations, and Mr. Jack Phillips was best man.

For the reception, held at the home of the bride's mother, a profusion of gladioli had been arranged. Mrs. Kerr was dressed in dusty rose crepe with a corsage bouquet of gladioli in toning shades, assisted by Mrs. J. J. Phillips in blue with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations. The supper table, lighted with tall white tapers, was centred with the bride's cake.

After their honeymoon, the young couple will reside in Victoria.

LOVERIDGE-BRADSHAW

On July 30 the marriage took place at Williams Lake of Miss Eleanor June Bradshaw of Williams Lake, formerly of Victoria, to Mr. Merwin Lincoln Loveridge of Horsely. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a rose silk ensemble. The bridesmaid, Miss Ann Kathleen Robertson, wore a white silk voile frock. Mr. Melvin Gibbons of Horsely was best man, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. A. D. MacKinnon.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Loveridge left for a honeymoon at the coast, and will reside at Williams Lake.

CLEMETT-VAN STEINBURG

The marriage of Amelia (Billie), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin E. Van Steinburg, Moosomin, Sask., and Mr. Roy Alfred Clemett, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Clemett, Brentwood, took place at 8.30 Saturday evening at St. Andrew's Presbyterian manse, Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiating, assisted by Rev. D. L. Oliver of Haney, B.C.

The pretty bride wore a smart pin-striped black suit and a French model black and white hat. Her corsage was of pink carnations and pink forget-me-nots. The bride and groom were unattended.

Owing to illness in the bride's family the wedding was very quiet. A reception, at which only members of the two families were present, was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. G. Donald, 151 Linden Avenue, where gladioli, sweet peas and larkspur in varying shades of pink and rose were used in profusion in the reception room. Supper was served from a table centred with the bride's cake and arranged with crystal vases of pink and rose larkspur and gypsophila. Rev. D. L. Oliver of Port Haney, an old family friend, proposed the toast to the bride.

After the reception the bride and groom, amid showers of confetti, left on the midnight boat for a short honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride donned a fur-trimmed English wool topcoat of tapestry rose shade with matching accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Clemett will make their home on Beach Drive, Brentwood.

HARNES-FULTON

The marriage was quietly solemnized in the vestry of the First United Church, at noon Saturday, by the Rev. Mr. Menzies. Of Mr. John W. Harnes, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Harnes, 1777 Hampshire Road, Victoria, to Miss Bernice M. Fulton, daughter of Mrs. Fulton, and the late Mr. W. Fulton, Denman Island, B.C.

Among children of many noted residents of England coming to Canada for the duration of the war is Tommy Sopwith, six-year-old son of T. O. M. Sopwith, famous British yachtsman. Tommy is pictured above with Mrs. Sopwith.

Make All-Bran Muffins a "REGULAR" Habit

Many women make it a point to have All-Bran muffins on the table at every breakfast, because so many people need just that much added "bulk" in their diet to keep "regular." Here's how to make:

BASIC BRAN MUFFIN RECIPE

2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
1 1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until creamy. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Stir flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill muffin tins two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°) about 30 minutes. Yield: 8 large muffins (3 inches in diameter) or 12 small muffins (2 1/4 inches in diameter).

Be sure you use Kellogg's All-Bran, because it has the right taste and texture to make delicious muffins. Also you know that it is an effective source of "bulk" and the intestinal tonic vitamin B<sub>1</sub>.

Orphans Enjoyed Many Treats

The ladies' committee met at the B.C. Protestant Orphans' Home, with the president, Mrs. D. C. Hughes presiding, and the following members present: Mesdames E. M. Brown, Luney, Butler, Simpson, King, Dillabough, Coutts, J. Cox, Redman, O. M. Brown, Heddle, Fraser, Dinmore and the Misses Newbury and Murray.

The children are all enjoying their holidays with lots of picnics. They were at Foul Bay beach for the whole of one day. Mr. Moore and Mr. Pope treated them to a bonfire picnic at Island View Beach. With the kind help of some friends cars were provided; also pop, ice cream and watermelon. Through the kindness of Mrs. J. O. Cameron, 24 attended the garden party at Government House. She sent a bus, also provided sandwiches, chocolate bars, etc., and gave them money to spend on the grounds, which was much appreciated.

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Heddle invited the children to pick blackberries at their homes, and treated them to afternoon tea as well.

Six boys have gone to the Island Sunday School Mission Camp at Maple Bay, this being made possible through the kindness of Mesdames Shepherd, Bagshaw and Hick.

The Air Force invited 15 children to a concert given in the Chamber of Commerce, which was much enjoyed. The junior auxiliary donated 11 pairs of slippers for each of the younger children, and also had a baby pen made, which is very useful.

Three children have left during July, leaving 40 children—18 girls and 22 boys—in the Home at present. Mrs. E. M. Brown will visit during August.

Sea lions require about 30 pounds of fish daily to keep them in good health.

NO. 1 JEW-BAITER LOSES NAZI JOB

JULIUS STREICHER

BERLIN (AP) — German authorities today said Julius Streicher was in perfect health on his farm near Nuremberg.

They made their statement in commenting on a London press report that Streicher, governor of Franconia, was dead.

Streicher, it became known, was relieved some time ago of his duties as gauleiter (Nazi Party district leader) for Franconia, but his name still appears in the masthead of Der Stuermer, Jew-baiting weekly.

The reasons for his suspension from the position of gauleiter were not disclosed.

The Reuter dispatch which reported Streicher dead, was dated from the "German frontier," and quoted "a well-informed source in Germany."

Streicher, 55, was with Hitler in Munich last November 8 when a bomb exploded in the beer hall soon after Hitler had left.

Like many of Hitler's companions of early days when the Nazi Party was struggling to power, Streicher served several jail terms. He was with the Fuehrer in the abortive Munich putsch in 1923, and was confined to the Landsberg penitentiary with Hitler.

Streicher long exercised considerable influence with Hitler. When other Nazis were content to leave the Jews undisturbed in German business, Streicher urged their removal. Streicher won.

When others drew the anti-Semitic line at things religious, Streicher demanded the razing of synagogues. Those at Munich and Nuremberg soon were demolished.

Hitler's close friendship with the bald, heavy-set Streicher was demonstrated on the latter's 50th birthday when Hitler appeared in Nuremberg to congratulate his trusted co-worker.

In "Der Stuermer" he at times likened Hitler to Christ.

Priceless Treasures Sold for Funds Of Red Cross

LONDON — Christie's Auction Rooms in London are once more the scene, as in the last war, of a historic sale of works of art, to be disposed of for the benefit of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John of Jerusalem. At the private view many of London's hostesses, who have gladly given their treasures to be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross, were to be seen in the auction rooms, some of them in uniform. No less than £55,224 was realized in the first eight days of the 14-days' sale, and a further £50,000 must be added to this for the sale of old gold watches and trinkets. Thus a sum exceeding £105,000 has already been raised, and gold articles of every description continue to arrive by post from all over the kingdom. This compares very favorably with the first Red Cross sale at Christie's in April, 1915, when in 12 days £37,383 was raised.

There is a personal quality about such a sale which is absent from an ordinary auction. Many ornaments have a special interest for the buyers. Here is a diamond star which was last seen flashing its beams from a box at Covent Garden just before the war, and there some beautiful earrings, associated with a lovely wearer. One diamond necklace, which brought £11,600, was recognized by many, although it was an anonymous gift. The first day's sale, which consisted entirely of jewels and gems, alone brought £29,221 to the Red Cross fund.

HEIRLOOM SILVER

As the jewelry was disposed of, other things were brought in to the showcases to take their place. On July 15 a splendid display of old English silver was on view. Few things are more typically English than the teapots, coffee pots, tankards, cups and ornamental punch bowls which were made in the 17th and 18th centuries. The Queen's gift was a silver-gilt tea service, which was bought by the American ambassador for £300. The King gave a George III two-handled cup and cover, and the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester a pair of two-handled cups of 1765. From Sir Courtauld Thompson, chairman of the Red Cross sale committee, came a gift of a two-handled cup and cover, which was offered and resold twice, bringing in all £176 to the fund.

These were carried round the long red baize tables before the admiring eyes of a public as mixed as it was interested. People from every walk of life were to be seen at this historic auction sale — dealers and art-lovers, smartly-dressed women and workers, nurses in uniform, clerical men in uniform, even an old gentleman from another epoch in a grey bilcockie hat. Some had come to buy and some to see their gifts sold, while interested onlookers who had come only to watch the scene were tempted to add a bid as the pretty things were passed round.

In addition to jewels and silver, furniture, tapestries, pictures and drawings, musical instruments, brocades, embroideries, lace, books and manuscripts are to be sold. The latter are of great interest. Here may be studied the neat hand-writing in which the author wrote "The Newcomes." Thackeray is not the only author whose MS. is written in a minutely neat hand-writing. Near it lie Andre Maurois' essay, "Les Conditions de la Liberte," in tiny writing, and Beerbohm's immortal "Epoch Soames." Lord Dunsany contributes "The Tent of the Arabs," written in a bold hand with a quill pen in a vellum book, which includes poems written as lately as June, 1940.

There is an important series of letters, 183 in all, written by the great Duke of Wellington, dealing with his world-famous campaigns, from which piquant extracts are given in the catalogue. These are to be sold together with 36 miniature portraits of Napoleon and his entourage, bound up with state documents and autograph letters from his hand. Interesting letters from Charles James Fox and Sir Robert Peel are also to be sold. A poem of Kipling's lies beside a letter written by Cromwell, a 15th century Book of Hours beside P. G. Wodehouse's "Quick Service." All is grist to the mill, which grinds out golden guineas for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Lord David Douglas-Scott holds his son Angus while his wife, the former Princess Stack, holds their "perfect baby." The baby comes by that title because its mother, leader of the League of Health and Beauty in Britain, is known as the "perfect woman."

Clubwomen's News

The ladies of the Open Door Spiritualist Church will hold a garden fete tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 at the home of Mrs. Davis, 1126 Johnson Street. There will be games, home cooking, cup and card reading by well-known readers. In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be whist and 500.

At the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. monthly meeting this afternoon Mrs. James Baker, the regent, presided. A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Gordon Hepburn, 1069 Beach Drive, for the use of her home for the garden party, held recently, which netted the sum of $246.05. The chapter endorsed a resolution from Municipal Chapter relative to Bible reading in the schools. A letter was read from the provincial president, asking members of the order to assist with the national registration. The pavilion at the Jubilee Hospital had been visited weekly, during the month of July, and ice cream served; special treats in the form of cherries and candy had been given to the patients. The war convener stated that knitting to the value of $28 had been turned in and 200 magazines sent to the military hospital at Work Point. An appeal was made for old, clean rags, such as to be left in the I.O.D.E. rooms. The next meeting of the chapter will be held on September 5, in view of the fact that the usual Monday meeting will fall on a holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Rush entertained Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Rush, 2172 Lafayette Street, at a joint shower in honor of Miss Rita Keeler and Mr. Frank Mannix, whose marriage is to take place August 17. The rooms were decorated with pink gladioli, pink carnations and blue larkspur. The miscellaneous gifts for the bride-elect were hung from a miniature clothesline. The gifts for Mr. Mannix were concealed about the rooms.

WANTS CANADIAN WOMEN TO HAVE BABIES—Canada is in for a campaign for "More and Better Babies." Miss Laurie Alwyn, British health lecturer, has her way. Miss Alwyn, who in private life is Mrs. John Doyle, arrived in New York recently with her 22-year-old daughter, Eve, and her three-year-old son, Larry. Miss Alwyn was vacationing and doing radio work in Cape Africa when the war broke out. After a rest "somewhere near the sea," she plans to visit many cities in the Dominion. Miss Alwyn said she likes women over 40 to have babies. Canadian audiences may hear more about that but she did give details of some of Larry's early training. His swing routine is shown here.

Ship Bandages Via Burma Road Route

The July shipment of sterilized bandages, dressings and hospital sundries was the first to be routed via the Burma Road. It was reported at a recent meeting of the Executive of the committee for Medical Aid for China. It is intended to use this route for the present, sending consignments through the Chinese Red Cross there. There should be no difficulty in getting these shipments through since the road is still open for medical supplies, etc. On account of the heavier charges for freight, it has been decided not to send clothes for refugees, at present.

The latest news letter from Hongkong contains a report by Dr. Atal, head of the medical mission sent to China from India in 1938. He was returning to India he said, "with the conviction that China in her life and death struggle against Japan will come out victorious." Dr. Atal reported on the Bethune International Peace Hospital to the China Defence League in Hongkong; quoting from the newsletter: "He told us of the great need for an X-ray. We were able to tell him that through the efforts of the committee for Medical Aid for China, Victoria, B.C., an X-ray generator and all accessories had been ordered as part of the memorial to Dr. Bethune's work."

Samples of Christmas cards to be sold to aid the work of the C.D.L. have been received and will shortly be displayed at the office at 617 Broughton Street. Many of these, hand-painted on silk are good examples of Chinese art.

The committee desires to make an urgent appeal for material for bandages, old sheets, pillow cases, damask tablecloths, any clean, white, old or new cotton, flannel or linen can be used. The office is open from 2 to 5 p.m. and Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

Britain Penalizes Wasters of Food

LONDON (CP)—The Ministry of Food issued an order today, effective August 2, making it a punishable offence to waste food, which was defined as "everything used by man for food or drink other than water."

The order, described as essentially "a warning," provides for three months' to two years' imprisonment and fines of £100 to £500 ($445 to $2,225).

Robert Boothby, parliamentary secretary to the food ministry, said the department hopes to increase the tea ration and avoid extension of rationing this winter.

ANTHONY EDEN'S KIN

Lady Eden, wife of Sir Timothy Eden, brother of the British secretary for war, is on her way to Vernon, B.C., with a party of English school children, five of them her own. The group attended Fritham House, an "ideal school," operated in England by Lady Eden. She plans to transplant the school to Vernon, where it will provide its pupils with "luxury with discipline" with an accent on manners and deportment.

ESCAPE FROM PARIS COST 50,000 FRANCS—After a nightmare journey from Paris to Bordeaux with divebombers strafing refugees along the clogged roads, and a nightmare voyage to England in an overcrowded Dutch boat, Mrs. Elisabeth Dimsdale has reached Canada with her year-and-a-half old daughter, Elizabeth Merita. Leaving Paris when she knew the city must fall, Mrs. Dimsdale hired a lorry for 20,000 francs. It broke down after a few miles, and they walked and thumbed rides through the rest of France.

Quebec Women Are Going to Register

MONTREAL (CP) — A complete survey of what the women of Quebec province are willing and able to do for Canada in case of national emergency was launched yesterday in co-operation with the federal government and with the blessing of Cardinal Villeneuve.

Madame Athanase David of Montreal, chairman of a committee conducting a voluntary registration of women in the province in line with similar surveys already completed in Ontario and the western provinces, said today many women's organizations in the province had indicated "great interest" in the scheme.

Explaining the purpose of the registration, coming only two weeks before the compulsory national registration, she said it would serve the purpose of training a body of volunteer workers who would help government officials in the compulsory survey.

It would also provide the government with an extensive outline of the aid Quebec women could render in case of a sudden national emergency coming before questionnaires of the compulsory registration could be sorted and filed.

Mrs. David said her newly-opened office here already had received a letter from Cardinal Villeneuve wishing it all success. War Services Minister Gardiner also had approved the scheme and asked for its rapid completion. The registration will take about three weeks and will cover every corner of the province.

Pensioners Join In Category A

OTTAWA (CP)—Men who have been drawing pensions for disabilities incurred in the first Great War have been passed in category "A" and enlisted in the Canadian Active Service Force, it was revealed in the House of Commons.

These men now receive their regular C.A.S.F. pay and allowances and continue to draw their disability pensions. Hon. Ian Mackenzie told the supply committee yesterday in reply to a question from Dr. J. J. McCann, Liberal, South Renfrew, Ont.

"That appears to me to be an anomaly at least," Dr. McCann said. "It was bad enough to learn that class 'A' men had been drawing pensions. But to have them re-enlist for the present war as fit and to continue in receipt of pensions was not only an anomaly but an injustice to the taxpayers of this country."

NEW BILL DRAFTED
Mr. Mackenzie said a new bill would be drafted to cover the conflict and said some $10,000 had already been paid out for pension claims arising from the present war.

Pending adoption of new legislation, the minister said $500,000 of the $700,000,000 covered by the war appropriations measure passed early in the session was earmarked for pensions.

H. C. Green, Conservative, Vancouver south, said that while pensions for soldiers of the first Great War were provided by statute, the pensions for soldiers in this war were paid under an order-in-council. He thought the C.A.S.F. pensions also should be by act of Parliament.

The minister explained a bill had been drafted and was to have been introduced this session, but it was decided to await greater experience in the new problems of this war. It likely would be introduced next session.

Members of the C.A.S.F. are being treated in Canadian military hospitals at the rate of about 1,000 a month. Mr. Mackenzie told the House. He said treatment of ex-soldiers of the last Great War was falling off slightly so far as disability pensioners were concerned, but increasing with respect to aged non-disability veterans who were given treatment under special arrangements provided recently.

HOLLYWOOD BOMB THREAT HOAX

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A bomb threat with fantastic possibilities—death or injury to hundreds of motion picture celebrities—summed down to an apparent hoax today.

Formally-dressed film notables thronged to the 35-seat gala opening last night of a week-long performance of three Noel Coward one-act plays for the benefit of the British War Relief Association of southern California. English film actors handled the stage roles.

Before the opening curtain a sign was discovered in a telephone booth at a drugstore adjoining the theatre, reading: "Warning—Three time bombs planted in Br. relief show. Do not go unless you want to be blown to bits. A.C.L."

While the capacity audience—including such personages as Ronald Colman, Charles Boyer, Mary Pickford, Richard Greene, Grace Allen, Elsa Maxwell, George Jessel, Brian Aherne, Irene Dunne, Hedy Lamarr, Rosalind Russell, Mary Martin and Simone Simon—sat undisturbed, homicide detectives quietly made a fruitless search for bombs.

The plays went off without untoward incident.

Lift Civil Bars

RANGOON, Burma (CP-Reuters)—An official announcement today said traffic had been resumed over the Burma road to China for goods not prohibited by the British-Japanese agreement closing the road to war supplies for China.

The road had been closed entirely while control arrangements were worked out.

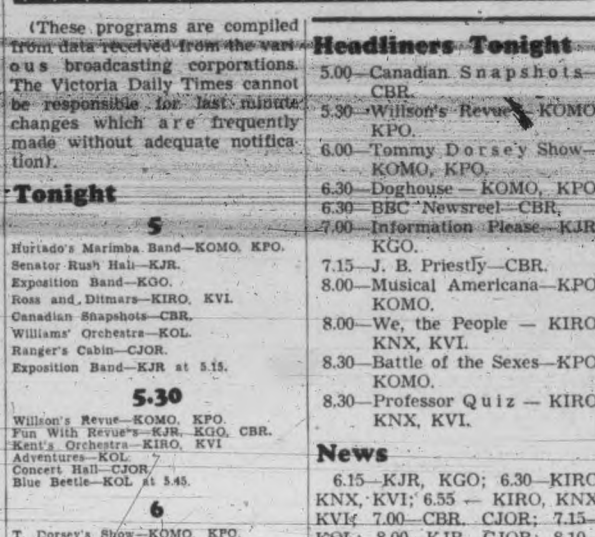

Today's announcement said traffic would be allowed on the condition that trucks would carry only sufficient gasoline to get them to China and back and that owners post bonds guaranteeing return of the trucks.

Military Governor

HONGKONG (CP)—Hong-kong's first military governor since 1912, Lieut. General E. F. Norton, arrived today from his previous command in India.

Gen. Norton, who led the 1924 Mt. Everest climbing expedition, did not indicate whether his appointment means the colony will assume a military status, such as Gibraltar, or is only a temporary wartime measure.

NEW, FAST COMBAT PLANE COMPLETED

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — Up in Buffalo, N.Y., one of the most important United States aircraft production centres, what is probably the world's fastest single-engine interceptor pursuit plane — the Bell interceptor — has been completed.

The "bugs" have been eliminated from the Bell plane and within a month a gradually accelerated production of it will be felt in the United States army air corps.

The most striking feature of the craft is the enamel-like "skin" on its wings. All high-speed metal military planes are dotted with rivets. Even the flush-head type, embedded in the wing skin, set up resistance to the air and reduce speed.

The national advisory committee for aeronautics developed a method of covering the flush-set rivets in the Bell wing, rendering it glass-smooth. The process is highly secret, but I am told the substance is sprayed on and then left to harden.

EASY TO HANDLE
The second outstanding characteristic of the plane is its ease of handling, and the third, its exceptional "fine power."

In addition to a nose cannon, the plane carries two machine guns and can be equipped with two more lodged in the wings.

Cannon on both interceptors for "localized" defence and fighters for missions of considerable range are becoming increasingly necessary, as the war has proved.

The Bell's top speed at optimum altitude is reported to be more than 370 miles an hour. In American warplanes that is exceeded only by the bi-motored Lockheed interceptor, which is not yet in quantity production.

What engineers call "stability," or easy flying qualities, is achieved in the Bell plane by putting the engine behind the pilot. This provides him with a clear field of vision ahead, a factor which is becoming indispensable to combat pilots.

Birds' tails can be spread, furled, raised, lowered, made convex or concave, and rotated on both a horizontal and perpendicular axis.

VICTORIA this week acts as host to well over 300 lawn bowlers for the city's annual holiday tournament. Organized 13 years ago in a small way the affair has grown steadily until now it occupies a major position on the city's sports calendar. Despite the fact that it is a war year and the so-called unlucky 13th the current competition has attracted a near-record entry.

Another pleasing feature is that three United States cities, Tacoma, Portland and San Diego, are represented. This city is always glad to welcome visitors from south of the border and we hope these lads and lassies of the bowl-and-jack will enjoy their stay in the Capital City. From reports the sport that Sir Francis Drake made immortal many years ago is enjoying outstanding success south of the border.

This city can take its place alongside any city in the world in the matter of bowling greens. The swards here rank with the finest and it must not be forgotten our greens are available every day in the year. If anybody doubts this statement just visit the Burnside Club any Sunday during the winter months.

Received another note from Doug Todd, Victoria boy serving as professional at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club. Informs us his latest feat is that of joining the hole-in-one club recently. He scored the dodo on the 160-yard 18th hole. Needless to say the feat cost Todd a visit to that place where one wets his thirst with anything but water. In closing his note Todd states that the Edmonton course is a championship layout of 6,463 yards and not 5,980 as previously mentioned in this column.

Third game of the senior lower island softball final will be run off tonight at the Athletic Park between Longshoremen and Cameron Lumber. Everything points to a third straight win for the stevedores. In the two games to date Jim Lackie's freight jugglers have been much the better club. However, Camerons may pull themselves up by their boot straps and extend the play-off. Forgy Andrews or One might beat the Longshoremen if they have a good night on the mound. The latter has hurled some good ball games this season when right, but manager Jack Pascoe has shown little desire to start him.

Talked to a chap at the park Saturday night and he was quite confident that neither Longshoremen nor Camerons will get past Ladysmith in the island final. He was so confident that folding money was offered to back up his opinion. It appears that Ladysmith features two good left-handed chukkers, something the local clubs have not battled against this season.

Up-Island towns have produced some smart softball clubs in recent seasons but the Victoria champions have usually been able to take them. Both Longshoremen and Camerons have well-balanced clubs and we don't think they will have to take a back seat to Ladysmith. The Longshoremen appear to have the edge through a better-balanced pitching staff and for that reason we favor them to win over Camerons.

HOLE-IN-ONE
While playing the links of the Qualicum Beach Hotel over the weekend John D. Lee of Vancouver, scored a hole-in-one on the 186-yard first hole.

St. Paul Lee Savold, 191, Des Moines, Ia., stopped Domingo Valin, 199, Oakland, Calif. (2).

Tillicums in Narrow Win

Turning out a team, studded with second division players, who replaced regulars away on duty, Navy baseballers came plenty close to handing leading Tillicum Athletics a beating when they met last night at Athletic Park in a Rithet Cup match. The Athletics managed to engineer a one-run attack in the final frame to nose through with a 6 to 5 victory. Chuck Restell stealing home to provide the marginal tally.

Navy, showing plenty of life, took advantage of a nobly Athletic crew and pushed over five runs in the first three innings. The Tillicums settled down in their half of the third and sent three runners over the base route. The next three innings went scoreless, but in the last of the seventh the league leaders punched out hits to drive three men home to knot the count and then came through with the winning run in the next session.

Ted Maitland opened on the hill for Athletics and during two and one-third innings he pitched good ball. Only three runs were got off him, but wobbly support enabled five runners to score. Maitland left the mound to take over Tommy Main's catching position. Louis Leonard replaced him and did splendidly, allowing only a single bingle in five and two-third innings. His support was good.

Navy's manager Benny Southworth worked on the mound. While he allowed only three hits, he spoiled things with his wildness. He gave up seven walks, hit three batters and tossed two wild pitches. He struck out eight.

Eagles will wind up their league schedule tomorrow night when they meet Athletics at Athletic Park.

Max Baer Will Get the Go-by

NEW YORK (AP)—With the gorgeous figure of madcap Maxie Baer apparently pointed out of the title picture, "artist" Mike Jacobs is getting ready to sketch the winner of next week's Bob Pastor-Billy Conn tussle in against Joe Louis in September. Jacobs has already received propositions from Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburgh and Washington for the bout.

Maxie was supposed to get the title shot, as a result of his recent win over Tony Galento. But madcap Maxie has the idea that if he risks life and limb against Louis again, anywhere, it should be worth a guarantee of $50,000. Mike, however, is guaranteeing "nuthin' to anybody."

A week ago, Mike announced that Conn, if he passed Pastor next Tuesday in the Polo Grounds, would get Louis as a "reward." Today he expanded that to include Pastor.

BOXING GLOVES WANTED BY ARMY

Soldiers in this district are anxious to invade the squared ring to wage a little warfare with the men of the other branches of the services, but they have not the proper armaments to train for this type of battle. They need boxing gloves. Alderman Bill Davies has come to their aid and offered his offices at 1008 Broad Street as a bunting place for donations of boxing mitts the citizens wish to give the boys in khaki so that they can get into good boxing form for the forthcoming interservice boxing tournament the alderman is arranging.

The lack of training equipment for the army has made it impossible to set the date for the tournament, which should be worth witnessing.

Scottish Soccer

GLASGOW (CP)—Trimmed of all the flourish and fanfare of pre-war years, the Scottish Football League will open Saturday with only 16 clubs. Decision to continue Scotland's national sport was announced yesterday.

Last fall the Scottish League was made up of two groups, east and west, each with 16 teams. Pre-war strength of the league was 32 clubs, 20 in the first division and 12 in the second.

Glasgow Rangers, many-times winner of the league and cup, are called by experts to win the LAUGH OF A CHAMPION—Challenger named "Horse of the Year" for 1939, but many of the turf followers have contended he'd be cut off this honor for 1940. However, his easy win of the $50,000 Hollywood Gold Cup race, in which he set a new track record for Hollywood Park, seems to warrant a laugh to those doubting the steed's ability.

Auto Races for Air Campaign

A bang-up program of auto races will be presented Saturday night at the Langford Speedway in aid of the air supremacy campaign.

Drivers, other members of the British Columbia Automotive Sports Association, track officials and Jack Taylor, owner of the track, will give their services and facilities free of charge, and the entire proceeds of the show will be turned over to the Women's Auxiliary of the Air Services, sponsors of the drive.

In addition to several features planned, a full program of races will be given, opening with time trials at 7.45 and closing with a 30-lap main event.

Local drivers to be seen in action include Digger Caldwell in No. 1 Caldwell's sleek speed buggy, which has been under the weather for the past few weeks, but is back in good running order. Buddy Green will be at the wheel of the bullet-like No. 23 car which has been burning up the asphalt of the speedway all season.

Jack Frumento will drive his neat little No. 4 car. Frumento has only once raced major cars since this season. Doodlebugs have been keeping him busy. The No. 4 car has been given a working over and is reported to be in good shape.

Jerry Vantreigh will drive the No. 31 car. In the last two or three meets staged at the speedway, Jerry has been on top, consistently and should be one of the outstanding pilots this week.

Other drivers and their cars will be: Jack Spaulding, the little man with the big cigar, in No. 6; Don Vantreigh in No. 9; Fred Carson in No. 2; Joe Moore in No. 7, and Sid Holdridge in No. 8.

Baseball Playoffs

Baseball fans are offered a double program of second division playoffs tonight. Cubs, first-born occupants, will oppose Navy at Beacon Hill Park, lower diamond, while Eagles will be at home at Cedar Hill Athletics at Oak Bay Park. These games are openers of best-of-three series, winners to meet in the championship playoff. Games start at 6.

Chicago—Jimmy Byrns, 158, Cleveland, knocked out Johnny Barbara, 158, Chicago (2).

Richmond Tighens Box Lacrosse Race

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Richmond Farmers tightened the race for leadership in the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League by defeating New Westminster Salmonbellies, 13 to 15 here last night.

By their victory, the Farmers moved into a second-place tie with Vancouver Burrards, each with 26 points, one less than the league leading New Westminster Adanacs.

Richmond staved off a last period rally by the Fishmen, which left the latter team, entrenched in fourth spot.

The Farmers went ahead 2 to 0 in the first quarter, but at half time held a slim 6 to 5 lead. They outscored the Salmonbellies, 6 to 1 in the third before Salmonbellies rallied.

Jackie James led Richmond scorers, with four goals, while Harry Carter netted a like number for Salmonbellies.

Softball Final Carded Tonight

With two victories safely stowed away in the club's hold, Longshoremen go into the third game of the senior A Lower Island softball championship tonight at Athletic Park against Cameron Lumber Company, strong favorite to win.

The game will start at 6.15. If the stevedores win they will put the championship in their pocket and wait for the island finals to start.

If lumbermen score their first playoff win the series will continue.

Ralph Bonner is expected to work from the mound for Longshoremen and Ono for Lumbermen. Bonner pitched his team to victory in the first game of the finals. Ono is a speedball artist.

TIMES DEFEATED

Times softball team, winners of the C section, fell to defeat 7 to 6 last night at Central Park, the hands of D section champs, Chinese Recreation Club.

It was the second straight win for the Chinese.

Everything was running smoothly for the newspaper lads up to the seventh inning. Then everything fell out from under. The Chinese scored five runs, and although the newsboys fought gamely in the final two innings, scoring four runs, the lead was too big.

In a Poodle Dog Cup fixture at Central Park also, Victoria Machinery Depot won from Harneit Fuel, B section champs, 16 to 7.

V.M.D. started strong and soon had a big lead, which they held and added to throughout the final innings.

In a Peden Cup fixture at Victoria West Park, Spencers beat Esquimalt A.A. 13 to 1.

Play Opens in City Net Meet

Play opened yesterday in the annual city tennis championships at the Victoria Club with a men's singles match between Reg Wood and the veteran Eric McCallum the feature.

It was a three-set battle with McCallum pulling through to victory, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4. In the third set Wood moved into a 4-3 game lead but was unable to hold off the comeback of his opponent.

All other matches in both the men's and women's singles were straight-set affairs.

Rinks Are Undefeated; Good Games

W. Murison's Terminal City rink from Vancouver and a Victoria Club rink skipped by Dave Breckenridge went out in front in opening play in the men's rinks competition in the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association's 13th annual tournament which got under way here yesterday.

The 38 rinks which compose the four men's sections played four of their scheduled six games yesterday, Murison and Breckenridge coming out with perfect scores of eight points. Remaining two games were played this morning and it was expected that by this evening sectional winners would be decided and the preliminary playoffs opened.

Women's rinks played three of their scheduled five games yesterday, with rinks skipped by Mrs. Sorenson, Vancouver Heights; Mrs. McLeod, C.P.; Vancouver; Mrs. Wallace, Victoria West; and Mrs. W. Kennuif, Vancouver South, posting perfect scores of six points.

Opening play was featured by some smart bowling by local as well as visiting rinks and the indications are that many more close matches will be witnessed on Greater Victoria's smooth greens before the men and women rinks champions are named.

Three men who are working hard at the headquarters club, Victoria Club at Beacon Hill, and for whose hands is the responsibility of seeing that the tournament is kept to schedule are D. C. Robertson, president of the G.V.L.B.A.; Alec Playfair, secretary; and Dave Dewar, one of the oldest bowlers in the city.

Men's and women's singles competitions were ushered in last night.

"Painted People" Early Picts Were

Just when the Picts settled in Scotland no one knows. Neither do we know all the facts about their race, though it seems likely they were Celts, or at least partly Celts.

The early Picts decorated their bodies with pictures or designs of one kind or another. Their name is believed to mean "Painted People."

Picts making attack on Hadrian's Wall.

They were of warlike nature. Time and again they made raids on the Romans, and sometimes they forced their way across Hadrian's Wall.

The Picts were in Scotland before the Scots. The first clear record of Scots getting to Scotland gives the time as about the year 495. The Picts had been in Scotland for hundreds of years before that.

An old record tells us that the Picts used "chariots" in battle. We do not know what their chariots were like, but they probably were two-wheeled carts of a rather crude type.

The Scots came in from Ireland, strange as it may seem. Certain old maps label the northern part of Great Britain as "Scotia Nova," meaning "New Scotland." Ireland, or at least a part of it, once held the name of "Scotia."

For a long time, the Picts and the Scots did not get along together. There were scores of battles, large and small, between them.

Eleven hundred years ago, a Scottish king, Kenneth MacAlpin, led an army against the Picts. The Picts fell beneath this attack, and in a few years their lands were placed in the kingdom of Scotland, as MacAlpin called his realm.

That ended the warfare between the Picts and the Scots. Scotland, as a single nation, had a long line of kings. Among these kings were four named Malcolm. Others ruled as Alexander, David, Robert and James.

Although commerce will continue to be hazardous there will be continued business activity. New inventions will add to human comfort. Novelty in fabrics will prove of great help in clothing multitudes.

Turkey comes under a sway which is read as indicating diplomatic tension that effects internal conditions. One of the leading statesmen will pass away. Destruction of Europe's hallowed places will cause growing resentment against all the powers engaged in blotting out what is best in the conquering of weaker nations. The month as it advances will bring little comfort to the neutral peoples.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fair success. It is well to look after the health of the family.

Children born on this day will be of courteous nature and rare intelligence. Many may reveal talents for the arts, especially music.

Answer: Wrong. The sensation is that of burning. Actually it is a quick-freezing process that takes place when dry ice touches your skin.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—We have one daughter 10½ years old. Is she too young to be asked to do a few tasks around the home, particularly on Saturday and Sunday? I sometimes ask her to dry the dishes or put them in the cupboard, but she is never willing to do it, and after I have asked her maybe three times her father intercedes and tells me to let her play and for me to do my own work. What do you think about this? MRS. D.

Answer: Every child by the time it is five years old should have some definite task to do in the household for which it is held responsible and which it should be taught to do as part of its daily routine.

This not only inculcates habits of industry in the child, but teaches it responsibility and makes it feel that it is a cog in the domestic machine that keeps it running.

You certainly have failed in your duty as a mother if you have not given your 10½-year-old daughter her regular household chores and taught her to do them as her part of the homemaking, that she performs cheerfully as her contribution to the family good.

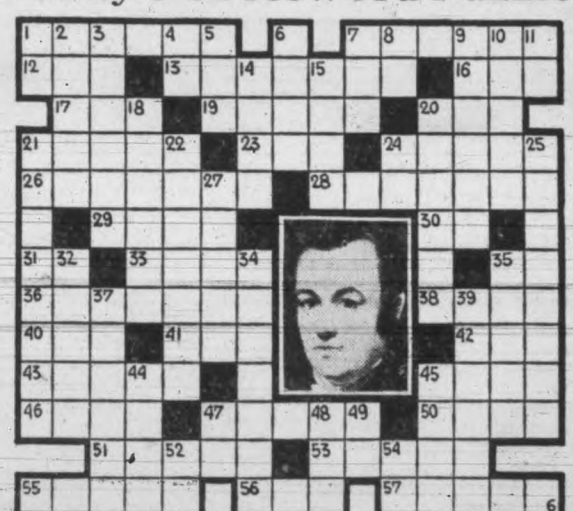

A girl of that age should be an efficient little housekeeper who could pinch-hit for Mother in any emergency. In fact, many girls are, and I still remember with pleasure a most delicious lunch that I once ate that was cooked and served entirely by my hostess' 11-year-old daughter.

GIVE CHILD REGULAR TASKS

A woman makes a great mistake who does not make her children, sons as well as daughters, help her with her housework if she cannot afford servants. No sight is more pitiful than an overworked, tired mother slaving to take care of a household of husky sons and daughters who have to play athletic games in order to get exercise.

DOROTHY DIX.

Star Enthusiasts
See Observatory

Taking advantage of a perfect summer evening, 75 students and members of the Victoria centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada last night visited the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory to receive from its members intensive explanations of astronomical and astronomical instruments rarely imparted to any other visiting groups.

Each of the members of the staff at the observatory handled a single phase of the work for the evening, and so were able to give much detail to the students.

Robert Peters, president of the society, introduced Dr. J. A. Pearce to the students, who welcomed the visitors and explained the evening's program. The centre of most interest was the huge 73-inch reflector telescope, fourth largest in the world, the operation of which was explained by Dr. C. S. Beals. Through this the star enthusiasts viewed Alpha Hercules, a double star, 407 light years from the earth. This distance represents light that started from Alpha Hercules at the time Jacques Cartier sailed for America and is only now reaching the earth. The Great Cluster in Hercules, a mass of 70,000 stars 36,000 light years from the earth, and the Ringed Nebula in Lyra, an immense globe of gas 1,500 light years from the earth, were also viewed through the large telescope.

Dr. A. McKellar explained the use of diffraction gratings and prisms, and also showed the camera used in taking spectrographic photographs. An aluminized mirror was also exhibited. This reflector is superior to the silver-coated mirror in that it reflects ultra-violet rays and that it does not tarnish.

In the administration building Dr. R. M. Pettie described the spectrogram which breaks the light of the star into various colors, by use of which the different elements present in the star can be determined.

Dr. K. O. Wright described the constellations to the amateur astronomers, and in the administration building Miss Phoebe Riddle, H. Boyd Brydon, and Dr. Wright explained photographs of spectra, comets and the Milky Way.

Lancashire Father Wants to Send Girls
To G. M. Murray, M.P.P. for Lillooet, comes this letter:

"I hope you will pardon me in writing you, but I saw in the English press a statement attributed to your wife that 10,000 British children could be absorbed in British Columbia.

"My daughter, aged 14 years, and two cousins, a girl aged 14 and a boy of 10, all the children are English, have been registered under the British Sea Evacuation Scheme, and any help you can give me so that I can get in communication with anyone who would accommodate children in their homes would be greatly appreciated.

"I may add that both girls have been at high school for the last four years, and I am extremely anxious in these difficult war days to have an idea as to where and to whom they would be going.

"Thanking you for a reply, Yours respectfully,

COPRA MEAL PLANT FOR THIS PROVINCE
British Columbia is to have the only copra pressing plant in Canada for the production of coconut oil and copra meal.

The Department of Trade and Industry was advised today that plans for a $200,000 plant, which will be located in Vancouver, have been completed.

A company known as W. R. Carpenter (Canada) Ltd., has been formed to direct the operation with the following directors: Sir Walter Carpenter, R. O. Campbell, E. F. Riddell, E. E. Bucklefield (Vancouver), and John Raymond, San Francisco.

The plant will have a capacity of 1,500 tons of copra a month, turning out 900 tons of coconut oil and 600 tons of copra meal. It will give employment to between 30 and 40 men. Eastern soap manufacturers will take the entire output of coconut oil, the department was informed.

GRIZZLIES A PEST
Grizzly bears are plentiful this season in the Unalakleet district, northwest of Stewart, according to Dr. J. M. Cummings, of the Mines Department, who has just returned from a field trip to the area.

Dr. Cummings said when his party left it was the season the bears come down to the river to feed on salmon. His party saw several of them.

Trappers in the district find the grizzlies a pest, he said, and several have been shot.

A farmer's son going up from the mouth of the river to join a trapper bagged two, one of which charged him.

Says War Effort Will Astonish
Canada's war effort is now organized on a basis and a scale that will astonish people when the full result becomes apparent, said R. W. Mayhew, Victoria's member of Parliament, who returned to the city this morning after 11 weeks in Ottawa.

Mr. Mayhew left the federal capital last weekend when the Commons had finished its major labors and adjournment was in sight.

"The session has been pretty strenuous," he said, "but it was well worth while. Members knew they were there for a definite purpose and in the main ordinary party politics were dropped."

"The main fact arising out of it is that Canada is definitely standing on her own feet now in organizing her war effort and intends to stay there."

"Personally I am more than delighted with the success that has been made to produce a sufficient army, navy and air force, and with what the country is doing to supply them with the necessary equipment. People will be astonished in a few months when they see what will be produced."

JUDGES ANNOUNCE RECIPE WINNERS
Hundreds of Victoria and district housewives submitted their favorite recipes for the "Salad Celebrity Week" contest, sponsored by McDonald Electric Ltd., in conjunction with the makers of "Best Foods" products. The contest closed Saturday night.

The winners are Miss A. F. Giles, 3347 Linwood Avenue, and Mrs. R. A. Clarke, 145 Government Street, first and second, respectively. These ladies are asked to call at the McDonald Electric store, Douglas and View Streets, and receive their awards, both being handsome baskets of "Best Foods" products. Other recipes, which received honorable mention, were submitted by Mrs. D. L. Kidd, Bamberton, B.C., Mrs. W. B. Cornish, 1156 Pandora Avenue, and Mrs. Delbert Jasper, 86 Maddock Avenue.

The judges, Mrs. M. A. Foulds and Miss C. Martin, had difficulty in selecting the winning recipes out of the many of high standard that were sent in. According to the rules, the recipe called for vegetables grown on the island, and as the majority of entrants did not abide by this rule, the choice was made of the recipes containing the most local ingredients. Raw vegetables contain more vitamins than cooked, consequently, the recipe containing cooked vegetables took second place, though it must be borne in mind that many older persons cannot readily digest raw vegetables.

The recipe submitted by Mrs. Giles winning first award is given in full:

Arrange on mustard and cress leaves, decorate with tomatoes cut in quarters or hard-boiled eggs. Slices of cold meat or chicken would make it a complete meal.

The second prize winning recipe by Mrs. Clarke follows:

1 cup boiled sliced carrots
1 cup boiled sliced potatoes
1 cup boiled sliced beets
1 cup green peas (cut small)

Order Stops Jump In Bread Prices
Price of bread in Victoria has not been increased and is therefore not affected by an order from Ottawa today that the maximum selling price of bread and flour will be the prices which prevailed on July 23, prior to the imposition of the wheat processing tax.

An announcement from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board explains the action has been taken to prevent exploitation of consumers of bread and flour while the implications of recent legislation are being studied.

In respect to flour, millers are ordered to share with bakers the levy of 7 cents a barrel resulting from the 15 cents a bushel tax on wheat milled for domestic consumption.

Fixing of the price of bread was the first formal price-fixing by the board of a necessity of life.

VANCOUVER INCREASE
Bread prices were increased one cent a loaf in Vancouver August 1, after local bakers claimed the move was forced upon them by the Federal wheat processing tax.

Ian Davidson, secretary of the Vancouver Master-Bakers' Association, which includes most of the city's bakeries, said today he had not been informed of the Ottawa edict, revoking such increases. He said that future policy of the association would depend on official information from Ottawa.

Under the increased prices established August 1, wrapped loaves weighing 15 ounces and unwrapped loaves weighing 16 ounces sold for nine cents each or two for 17 delivered. Prices over the counter were eight cents or two for 15. Previously the price had been eight cents delivered and seven cents over the counter.

The processing tax, included in legislation passed by Parliament in the past few weeks, is 15 cents a bushel on all wheat processed into flour or other such commodities for domestic consumption. The tax is collected by the miller when he sells the flour and returns are made monthly to the Canadian Wheat Board.

In its announcement at Ottawa today, the Prices and Trade Board, under the chairmanship of Hector McKinnon, said it "would have preferred to pursue the more logical course of gathering complete information before taking such a step, but that the concerted action of bakers in a western city in increasing bread prices immediately had left the board with no alternative."

"Today's order of the board is, therefore, in the nature of a 'standstill' ruling and will apply throughout Canada until the board has had opportunity to inquire fully into the facts and to determine more precisely the effects of the wheat-processing tax on the milling and baking industries."

All Victoria Enjoys Heat
Victorians are reveling in their first really warm spell of the present summer.

At that it wasn't so hot, compared to other places on the continent. The thermometer yesterday only went, officially, to 78, and today it was about the same. That was in Gonzales, however, where cool breezes always prevail. On city streets and sheltered beaches and at inland lakes the temperature was well over 80, with no breeze and a cloudless sky.

But everybody was happy and as soon as every body's doors closed thousands flocked to beaches and tennis courts and went walking in the parks. Others stayed at home and sat on their porches and in their gardens. Gardeners watered their lawns and flowers.

The young people love the warm weather. In droves they hitchhiked to lakes—ones too young for such jaunts don bathing suits and scamper in the spray from sprinklers or paddle in the pools at the parks. "Turn the hose on me, daddy," is a popular cry these days.

Sailors and soldiers, too, are enjoying the warm weather and after "hours" swimming is the most popular pastime. Crowds of them are seen each evening, bathing suits in hand, making their way to the beaches and lakes. Thetis Lake is particularly popular. The sailors haven't far to go for their swimming, if they don't mind cold water. They just plunge into Esquimalt harbor. Many of them take early morning dips, which set them up for the day.

There is a hint the warm spell may break tomorrow evening, for a cloudy sky is expected. However, no real turn in the weather is due, and Victorians are hoping for warm days for some weeks to come.

JUDGES ANNOUNCE RECIPE WINNERS
Hundreds of Victoria and district housewives submitted their favorite recipes for the "Salad Celebrity Week" contest, sponsored by McDonald Electric Ltd., in conjunction with the makers of "Best Foods" products. The contest closed Saturday night.

The winners are Miss A. F. Giles, 3347 Linwood Avenue, and Mrs. R. A. Clarke, 145 Government Street, first and second, respectively. These ladies are asked to call at the McDonald Electric store, Douglas and View Streets, and receive their awards, both being handsome baskets of "Best Foods" products. Other recipes, which received honorable mention, were submitted by Mrs. D. L. Kidd, Bamberton, B.C., Mrs. W. B. Cornish, 1156 Pandora Avenue, and Mrs. Delbert Jasper, 86 Maddock Avenue.

The judges, Mrs. M. A. Foulds and Miss C. Martin, had difficulty in selecting the winning recipes out of the many of high standard that were sent in. According to the rules, the recipe called for vegetables grown on the island, and as the majority of entrants did not abide by this rule, the choice was made of the recipes containing the most local ingredients. Raw vegetables contain more vitamins than cooked, consequently, the recipe containing cooked vegetables took second place, though it must be borne in mind that many older persons cannot readily digest raw vegetables.

The recipe submitted by Mrs. Giles winning first award is given in full:

SUMMER SALAD
(All ingredients as fresh as possible)
1/2 cup mustard and cress
1/2 cup celery
1 tbs. young onions
1/2 cup cucumber
Wash lettuce, mustard and cress leaves. Drain, dry thoroughly, crisp in refrigerator until ready for use. Cube celery, cut radishes in small slices, cube or slice cucumbers, slice onions. Place mustard and cress leaves in a bowl, pour salad dressing over them. Mix lettuce, celery, radishes and onions with a little mayonnaise. Arrange on mustard and cress leaves, decorate with tomatoes cut in quarters or hard-boiled eggs. Slices of cold meat or chicken would make it a complete meal.

The second prize winning recipe by Mrs. Clarke follows:

COOKED VEGETABLE SALAD
(With mayonnaise dressing)
1 cup boiled sliced carrots
1 cup boiled sliced potatoes
1 cup boiled sliced beets
1 cup green peas (cut small)
1 cup green beans (cut small)

Order Stops Jump In Bread Prices

Price of bread in Victoria has not been increased and is therefore not affected by an order from Ottawa today that the maximum selling price of bread and flour will be the prices which prevailed on July 23, prior to the imposition of the wheat processing tax.

An announcement from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board explains the action has been taken to prevent exploitation of consumers of bread and flour while the implications of recent legislation are being studied.

In respect to flour, millers are ordered to share with bakers the levy of 7 cents a barrel resulting from the 15 cents a bushel tax on wheat milled for domestic consumption.

Fixing of the price of bread was the first formal price-fixing by the board of a necessity of life.

VANCOUVER INCREASE
Bread prices were increased one cent a loaf in Vancouver August 1, after local bakers claimed the move was forced upon them by the Federal wheat processing tax.

Ian Davidson, secretary of the Vancouver Master-Bakers' Association, which includes most of the city's bakeries, said today he had not been informed of the Ottawa edict, revoking such increases. He said that future policy of the association would depend on official information from Ottawa.

Under the increased prices established August 1, wrapped loaves weighing 15 ounces and unwrapped loaves weighing 16 ounces sold for nine cents each or two for 17 delivered. Prices over the counter were eight cents or two for 15. Previously the price had been eight cents delivered and seven cents over the counter.

The processing tax, included in legislation passed by Parliament in the past few weeks, is 15 cents a bushel on all wheat processed into flour or other such commodities for domestic consumption. The tax is collected by the miller when he sells the flour and returns are made monthly to the Canadian Wheat Board.

In its announcement at Ottawa today, the Prices and Trade Board, under the chairmanship of Hector McKinnon, said it "would have preferred to pursue the more logical course of gathering complete information before taking such a step, but that the concerted action of bakers in a western city in increasing bread prices immediately had left the board with no alternative."

"Today's order of the board is, therefore, in the nature of a 'standstill' ruling and will apply throughout Canada until the board has had opportunity to inquire fully into the facts and to determine more precisely the effects of the wheat-processing tax on the milling and baking industries."

All Victoria Enjoys Heat
Victorians are reveling in their first really warm spell of the present summer.

At that it wasn't so hot, compared to other places on the continent. The thermometer yesterday only went, officially, to 78, and today it was about the same. That was in Gonzales, however, where cool breezes always prevail. On city streets and sheltered beaches and at inland lakes the temperature was well over 80, with no breeze and a cloudless sky.

But everybody was happy and as soon as every body's doors closed thousands flocked to beaches and tennis courts and went walking in the parks. Others stayed at home and sat on their porches and in their gardens. Gardeners watered their lawns and flowers.

The young people love the warm weather. In droves they hitchhiked to lakes—ones too young for such jaunts don bathing suits and scamper in the spray from sprinklers or paddle in the pools at the parks. "Turn the hose on me, daddy," is a popular cry these days.

Sailors and soldiers, too, are enjoying the warm weather and after "hours" swimming is the most popular pastime. Crowds of them are seen each evening, bathing suits in hand, making their way to the beaches and lakes. Thetis Lake is particularly popular. The sailors haven't far to go for their swimming, if they don't mind cold water. They just plunge into Esquimalt harbor. Many of them take early morning dips, which set them up for the day.

There is a hint the warm spell may break tomorrow evening, for a cloudy sky is expected. However, no real turn in the weather is due, and Victorians are hoping for warm days for some weeks to come.

Won D.S.C. for Rescue Attempt

VANCOUVER (CP)—The story of how a young Vancouver naval officer made three dashes through enemy shell fire in a vain attempt to rescue British officers on the beach at St. Valery, France, was told in a letter received here from Sub-Lieut. David A. Killam, son of Laurence Killam of Vancouver. Sub-Lieut. Killam recently was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

"We evacuated 4,000 British troops from Veale, near St. Valery, under fire from 20 tanks and two shore batteries," the letter said.

"The same afternoon we were on the way back to England when a signal came that there were still some British officers left on the beach at St. Valery. We turned back in the destroyer and found the Germans had brought up more shore guns. Two ratings and myself were lowered into a powerboat alongside and the destroyer zig-zagged in at full speed under a smoke screen.

"When fairly close to shore we knocked out the pins and cut around the stern for the beach. We were promptly plastered with shells all around us and the power boat capsized.

"We tied a rope around us to hold us together and swam out a bit so the destroyer could get us. When she came alongside they threw us a rope and pulled us like a surfboat until we could get hold of the nets on the hull.

"They put us through this manoeuvre three times in all."

Class 'D' Destroyer

OTTAWA (CP)—H.M.C.S. Margaree, latest addition to Canada's navy, is a class "D" destroyer and not one of the Tribal class, it was learned today at naval headquarters.

The Margaree is replacing H.M.C.S. Fraser, lost in evacuation operations off Bordeaux, France. A naval spokesman said yesterday when the announcement was made that the new vessel was of the Tribal class, but this was in error.

Tribal class destroyers are larger than the "D" class ships. The Margaree, as one of the latter type, has a tonnage of 1,375 tons, a complement of 145 officers and men and an armament consisting of four 4.7-inch guns, six smaller guns and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes.

Around the Docks CANADA'S CHIEF ENGINEER RETIRES

Dave Smith, chief engineer of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, has gone into retirement, effective from the first of the month.

He returned to this coast last week from England, having been ill in hospital there since early June.

Mr. Smith completed a long period of service with Canadian Pacific Steamships on the Pacific. He joined the company in August, 1903, as a junior engineer on the old Empress of Japan, was promoted to third engineer on the Empress of India in 1910 and became chief of the Montevideo in 1916. He served the Admiralty on the new Empress of Japan from 1914 to 1916.

In the year 1922 he was chief of the Empress of Australia and for five months came ashore as acting superintendent engineer at Vancouver. Later he served as chief of the Empress of Russia.

Mr. Smith is succeeded on the Empress of Canada by James B. Deans, who entered the company's service on the Atlantic in 1906.

Lifeboat Overhauling

The Bamfield power lifeboat, maintained on the west coast of Vancouver Island to aid distressed seamen, will be out of commission for annual overhaul for approximately two weeks, commencing August 5, it is announced by Col. A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Department of Transport.

Sofie Bakke Sunk

Norwegian Mrs. Sofie Bakke of the Knutsen Line, a former trader to Victoria and other British Columbia ports, was in collision Sunday with the Swedish Ms. Lima off the northeast coast of Scotland and sank in 20 minutes. The Lima was also known in the B.C. trade.

Thirty-nine officers and crewmen of the Sofie were rescued. Capt. B. Barne was the ship's master.

The Sofie Bakke last loaded on this coast for Europe in December, 1939. She was a vessel of 5,461 gross tons, 435.9 feet long, built in 1938.

Alleges Japanese Obstruct Plane Base

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alderman H. D. Wilson, chairman of Vancouver's city council airport committee, told council members today that there was an apparently organized effort by Japanese fishermen on the Fraser River estuary to obstruct the seaplane channel at the city's airport.

His allegations were supported by a letter sent by Canadian Airways to federal authorities.

The council instructed Corporation Counsel D. E. McTaggart and Airport Manager William Templeton to attempt to obtain stricter control by enlisting the aid of the North Fraser harbor board and local fishermen's unions.

Ocean Plane Closely Guarded

NEW YORK (AP)—The British flying boat Clare, here on a commercial test flight, was under close police guard today.

Two detectives guarded the plane, camouflaged in olive green and blue with propellers painted black. The guard will be maintained until Thursday, when the Clare leaves for England.

Lord Camrose, controlling operator of the London Daily Telegraph and Morning Post, put aboard a copy of his Saturday edition with a note to Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, in which he said "the fact that British civilian flying craft can navigate 3,000 miles of Atlantic ocean in wartime appears to me further convincing proof of our domination over Germany, both in the air and on the sea."

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times, commenting editorially upon the arrival here of the British flying boat Clare, said that the fact that the craft made the trip across the Atlantic and that service via the northern route is to be resumed "gives heartening evidence of increasing British confidence and strength in the air."

It added: "That such service, linking the United States directly with Britain, will speed the interchange of opinion goes without saying."

ORGANIZE UNIT TO FERRY BOMBERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Royal Air Force pilots announced they are organizing an aviation unit in Montreal to ferry bombing planes from Canada to Great Britain.

Capt. Donald C. T. Bennett, well-known trans-Atlantic flier, and Capt. R. H. Page, employed by Imperial Airways as a pilot, were lent to the British Aircraft Production Ministry to develop a trans-Atlantic system for delivering bombers to Britain under their own power.

Shipping Losses for Week 72,691 Tons

LONDON (CP)—Mercantile shipping losses due to axis war action for the week ended July 29 were 18 British ships totaling 65,601 tons, and two Allied ships totaling 7,090 tons, the Admiralty announced today.

It was denied authoritatively that H.M.S. Resolution was hit by a bomb or that a cruiser was damaged off the Balearic Islands in the Mediterranean.

A German claim to have sunk 229,298 tons of shipping during that week was termed "absurd."

The Admiralty said "enemy losses to August 4 were approximately 1,172,000 tons, including 918,000 German and 254,000 Italian, plus 26,000 tons of former neutral shipping which had been brought under axis control.

INTERRED NAZI SEAMEN PROBLEM

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Nazi seamen who last December scuttled the pocket battleship Graf Spee outside Montevideo Harbor and now are interned in Argentina are becoming a costly problem to their hosts.

By international law, the government must pay all unemployed seamen interned in Argentina full naval salaries. Already this has cost upward of 500,000 pesos ($125,000) and there has been no word from Germany regarding reimbursement.

Besides, younger crewmen are turning their guardians' hair grey with escapes or attempted escapes.

Four noncommissioned officers were found yesterday wandering about, apparently trying to run away to Chile.

Others are believed to have succeeded in crossing into Chile.

Some 300, or about half those interned, have found employment with German firms in Argentina, thus easing the Argentine government's financial burden.

2 Drowned in North

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Alvan Jones, 26, and Albert Chenard, 44, both of Juneau, drowned Sunday in Turner Lake, 25 miles from here, when their small boat swamped while they were fishing.

William Niemi, sheet metal worker, escaped by paddling the overturned boat to shore. He said Jones, a driver to a dairy, and Chenard, a sheet metal worker, attempted to swim ashore, but were dragged down by their heavy clothing. Niemi made his way to Taku Beach and was brought to Juneau yesterday.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Dealings in wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today were limited to a few trades in October futures at the pegged minimum of 73 1/2 cents. The December future did not open.

There were indications that a small amount of Durham wheat was worked for export out of New York, presumably for the United Kingdom, but outside of this little activity was reported.

In the cash grain market a small amount of No. 1 northern was picked up by shippers and mills, and there was some demand for other grades at unchanged spreads. Offerings were light, however, and principally on an odd-car basis.

Wheat prices at Chicago hovered around previous closing levels. At Buenos Aires, wheat was unchanged at noon.

Coarse grain trading was routine.
